COUNTERFEITING PLANT

Newsboys Gave the Boston Police Tip and Two Men Known in Italy and America Captured

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—A startlingly original scheme for housing a sudden flood of counterfeit coins on the streets of Boston through the agency of small boys was yesterday successfully thwarted through the police.

By the arrest at an early hour of two men who are said to have been for years a thorn in the side of the governments of Italy and the United States as successful makers and distributors of false money, the police believe they have struck at the root of the conspiracy.

The men, Giuseppe Viola and Giovanni Latta, were seized as they entered the house of Giuseppe Palazzo at 42 Hale street, where a crude but effective counterfeiting plant was found.

They had already, the police say, been gun to pour out a stream of plated half dollars, 570 of which were found in a bag in one of their rooms. Their simple and direct business method, it is charged, was the straight proposition to poor Italian boys, "500 of our money for 250 of yours—and no one can tell the difference."

Federal officers said yesterday that the work of these men, if they are the counterfeiters as claimed, was novel in counterfeiting history.

Almost No Secrecy

Instead of the care and secrecy usually exercised in such schemes, their line of operation was put out any sort of a slipshod imitation coin that would "get by" with the thoughtless or ignorant, offer them almost openly to "look" usually boys, dump their whole product of a day or two and make their getaway. Their faith in boys, however, was in their Boston operations, unexplained, and led to their capture. For it was the cleverness of newsboys on whom the fake half dollars had been passed that gave their scheme away, almost on the eve of their departure for other lands.

The taking into custody of Viola and Latta followed the corraling of a number of Italian lads, who the police think had no hand in making the money, but were merely caught by the glowing offer of "500 for 250."

Mystery attached yesterday to the exact connection with the counterfeiters of Colosio Itulio, an older man, who gave the address of 6 Bulfinch street. According to the police, he was a "drummer" of the genuine peddling out the fake coin in small amounts after Viola and Latta had made it.

Plazzo, who harbored the alleged counterfeiters at 42 Hale street, is claimed to have been cognizant of what they were doing, even to the extent of lending his kitchen stove for melting the base metal they used in their spurious coins, but to have tried to establish an alibi by always being out of the house while this process was in progress. Viola and Latta are said to have selected Plazzo as their landlord because they knew he was out of work and "hard up" and would not object to anything that brought money into the house—not even to making it there.

Newsboys Furnish Tip

The first hint that the flood of silver currency was on in Boston was given Saturday evening, when newsboys came to Patrolman Patrick O'Brien, on duty near the North station, with news, shiny, but clearly counterfeit 50-cent pieces.

They said that a gang of lads not much older than themselves were dealing out the things in the North and West Ends, and further they knew at least one of the crowd. This "tip" led to the rapid rounding up of the gang. The list taken was: Viola and Latta. Sergeant Murphy and Patrolman Latta lay in wait for them at Palazzo's house. The men accepted arrest in a matter of fact way, not even taking the trouble to find out that the officers were sure of their identity.

Federal officers were delighted to discover yesterday that the two supposed ringleaders had recently been in Lynn, where a supply of bad half dollars much like those found in this city, recently showed up. It is believed they were responsible for these counterfeiters also.

One of their peculiarities, it is said, was not to let the bad coins lie idle on their hands, but to get them into circulation almost before they got cool.

Officers say, for instance, that they have proof the money that was passing current in this city Saturday was turned out some time Friday.

Federal officers showed enough of the former lives of the alleged counterfeiters to believe they have had an exciting history, which includes a flight from Italy because the authorities there began to connect them with the extraordinary supply of bad lire in that country.

MATHEW T. I. MET

Interesting Meeting by Temperance Boys Yesterday Forenoon

The members of the Mathew Temperance Institute held a largely attended meeting at their hall in Central street yesterday forenoon when considerable business was transacted, and the large attendance showed that the old Mathew spirit is being revived in this city. The meeting was presided over by President William H. Carey, and three new members were admitted, while eight propositions for membership were received.

The ball committee reported that the following have been appointed to look after the speakers as well as the musical program: William H. Carey, Andrew J. Welch, Thomas Larkin John J. McCusker and James P. Hourie. A banquet will precede the ball and several prominent speakers will address the gathering. The next meeting of the ball committee is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 10. Great interest is being shown in this affair, and the committee hopes to have an attendance of 500 present at this event.

The committee in charge of the reception to be tendered the St. Charles C. T. A. of Woburn reported that in response to the request of the Woburn society the affair had been postponed to the evening of Feb. 12.

The chairman of the membership committee, Patrick J. Nestor, reported that five teams, consisting of five members each, will enter the membership contest.

The following committee was appointed to arrange a series of concerts on Sunday afternoons: Andrew J. Welch, chairman; John J. McCusker, James Armstrong, James J. Sloan, Edward Harris, John J. Sullivan and William F. Carey. The first one was held yesterday afternoon. The following program was greatly enjoyed by the 123 attending: Opening remarks, President W. H. Carey; selection by Healey's orchestra; song, "Get Out and Get Under the Automobile"; George Rogers; piano solo, Mr. John Hall; song, "A Little Bit of Green"; Marian Nolan; address, Edward F. Shattuck; selection by Healey's orchestra; song, "Then I'll Stop Loving You"; Miss Jennie Wynnot; song, "Little Girl of My Dreams"; Lawrence Delaney; song, "The d'Amour"; Miss Madeline Boland; whistling solo, William Carr; song, "When Sweet Marie Was Sweet Sixteen"; Paul Coleman; "The Old Oaken Bucket," by the entire gathering, under the direction of George Rogers; selection, Healey's orchestra.

Another pool table is being installed in the already well appointed quarters of the society, and the enthusiasm that now prevails at the club is a sure sign of a large increase in membership.

INSIDE TRUTH OF BOMB OUTRAGES IN NEW YORK IS AT LAST REVEALED

1. BURKE 2. ZUMP 3. STYL OF BOMB 4. TYPE OF DAMAGE

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Startling confession was made by Anthony S. Burke, alias Burke and Robert P. Zump, at the trial of several charged with being responsible for most of the hundreds of bomb outrages committed in this city within the last year. They smilingly admitted that they had set off dynamite bombs for any sum of money they could get from those who employed them. They claimed that they tried never to take life, but this part of their statement was taken by the police authorities with a grain of salt because several have been named or killed during the year by explosions, the latest victim being a young woman stenographer in an office which was blown up.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make it Thick, Glossy, Wavy, Luxuriant and Remove All Dandruff

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandrin" hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandrin and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandrin dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandrin from any drug, grocer or toilet counter, and just try it.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Starting today, the Merrimack Square Theatre will revert to its old policy, that of presenting vaudeville and motion pictures. There will be five of the greatest acts ever seen in Lowell, and as for the pictures, it can truthfully be said that never before have local theatregoers seen anything of the like which will be shown at Lowell's most popular theatre. For today, vaudeville's greatest quartet, The Expedition Four, the "Flying Horse," an act with seven people, heads the bill, and "Ellen Tate, Gordon & Rose and Roundy Roundy" will also appear. This routine will be followed today, tomorrow and Wednesday. For the last three days of the week, another complete program will be seen. The prices will be 10 cents. Reserved seats five cents extra. The first reel in the afternoon will be started at 2 o'clock, while the evening there will be two shows, the first commencing at 6:15. Always the biggest and best show in Lowell for the price. See today's bill and forever after you wouldn't miss one of them for worlds.

THE OPERA HOUSE
Today and tomorrow at the Opera House another of the big feature programs which have made this house the most popular of any in the city will be presented. The feature picture is "The Battle of Waterloo, the greatest war drama ever produced and exhibited to the public on the motion picture screen. This great picture was photographed on the actual scenes of the battle and in its making eight thousand men and six thousand horses contributed their efforts. Striking lightlike portrayals of Napoleon Bonaparte, "the little corporal," the duke of Wellington, known as "the Iron Duke," and of Blücher. This picture will be a rare treat to all, the student, the seeker of sensation, the curious, the lover of the spectacular, and in fact to the world at large. Every man, woman and child in Lowell should be sure to see it. In addition to this feature there will be offered another big Warner feature, "The Red Spider," in three big parts. The price of admission is within the reach of all, five cents for the children and ten cents for adults.

KEITH'S THEATRE

"Harmony at Home," one of the most fascinating of musical offerings, has been secured as the headline act at the B. P. Keith theatre this week. It is in reality, one of the neatest of acts, and one which has been acclaimed everywhere as something which should make an appeal to all classes of theatregoers. It's the kind of music fairly well just what may be expected. These women and two men, instrumentalists and vocalists, give an almost continuous concert of the finest grades of music, ranging from some of the older songs to the latest of light music. The act is equipped with special scenery and the costume embellishments are far above the ordinary. The Moneta Five are responsible for it, and next week, in Portland were the recipients of much favorable comment from press and public.

The nautical travesty, "The Battle of Hay Rum," which was concocted in the fertile brain of Ed. Gallagher, will be presented by Collins and Seymour. It is a rattling funny affair, something you will shriek at, and it keeps growing funnier all the time. Imagine, if you can, a beautiful sunrise on Vandyke bay, where the good battleship "Sandy Hook," commanded by "Admiral Hook," is steaming along, ready to bombard the enemy. The admiral summons his faithful navy, consisting of one sailor and one cook, and they proceed with the attack. The "Sandy Hook" steams merrily on, although her crew is sorely afraid. It is then discovered that the ship cannot be turned from going ahead. If it were possible to turn her around, the result would be so. The enemy, mistaking the stubbornness of the ship for the bravery of its crew, capitulate, and a glorious victory is won. Mr. Collins will appear as the admiral, while Seymour will be the "Shaker Schultz," a sort of sea dog.

Tom Mahoney, known far and wide as "President" Mahoney, will entertain with songs and sketches. Mahoney is a very droll man. There is nobody quite in the same line with him, and his wit is bound to be appreciated. He has several hits, and his strong points as well as their weak ones. The result is an uproarious laugh. His singing of Irish ditties, too, will be well received. Mr. Mahoney, Lucier & Co. in a very funny skit, "Heaps of Hilarity," are known here for their splendid work in past years.

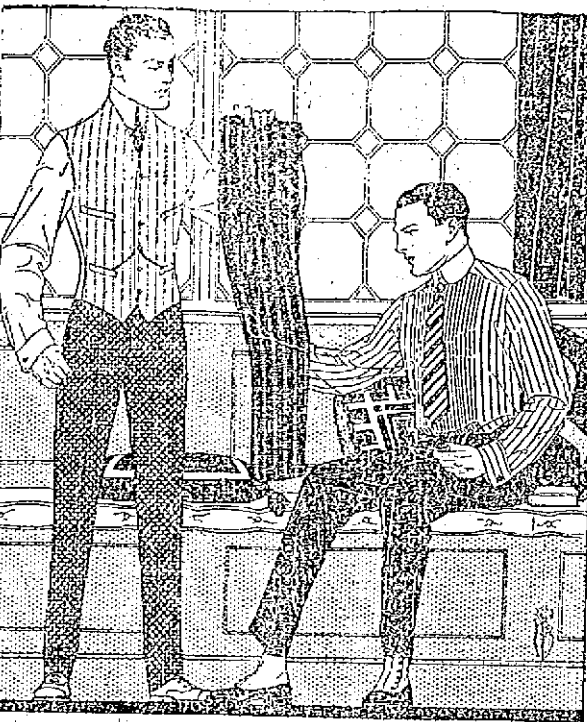

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young—is to keep young—to do this you must use your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a yellow complexion—dark lines under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety percent of all sickness comes from inactive liver and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a well-known physician in Ohio, has felt a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for salomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. SHOT BY THUGS LADDERS SAVE 20

Providence Man Who Had $1,000 With Him, Attacked

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 2.—Two gunmen, accompanied by a 16-year-old boy, shot down Frank C. Pettis, a prominent oyster dealer of 715 Broad street early yesterday morning as he was leaving his private garage at the rear of his home. The boldness of the attack coming after several other hold-ups has aroused this city. The police are bending every effort to find a trace of the assailants. Pettis, the surgeons believe, will recover. One bullet was taken from his head and a second passed through his shoulder.

Pettis had arrived at his garage about 5 o'clock yesterday morning after a spin following the closing of his business place, and an accounting of the week's transactions. He had $1000 in bills with him, and wore diamonds valued at $2000. He had placed his car in the garage and had stepped from the door when he was suddenly confronted with the two men, each holding a revolver. A boy of 16 or 17 years of age was standing in the rear of the men, evidently acting as their lookout.

The men told Pettis to halt and throw up his hands. Pettis, instead, started to run toward his house. As he did so one of the men fired. The bullet entered his head. Pettis fell to the ground. Soon after, he got to his feet again and started to run toward the street. A second shot struck him in the shoulder and as he dropped three more shots were fired at him.

The men and boy then started to walk at a lively pace up Public street to Broad st., where all traces of them vanished. Mr. Pettis crawled with difficulty to his home, and a startled servant opened the door as he dropped in the hallway.

Before he lost consciousness he directed that the police be notified. Dr. W. G. Sullivan was immediately summoned, and succeeded in taking the bullet from the wounded man's head. It is said he has a good chance of recovery.

Trapped in Hotel by Fire —Manager Seriously Burned and May Die

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Twenty guests in the Hotel Lyric, facing Times square at Forty-third street, were trapped in their rooms last night by a fire which had started in a cafe kitchen in the basement and were rescued with ladders thrown against the side of the side of the building and across roofs. Max Kennedy, the manager, was seriously burned and is expected to die.

Men and women diners in fashionable restaurants thronged the sidewalks and shouted words of encouragement to the persons in the hotel. The flames crept toward the roof, blocking stairs and fire escapes while the firemen worked. The guests of the Times Square hotel fled to the street.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—President Oreste of Haiti abdicated and left the country without a government. MUNICIPAL COUNCIL MET

Got Offer of Carney Land—Re- monstrance on Hospital Site— Conference With Legislators

The municipal council held a brief meeting Saturday and then went into conference with the senators and representatives from Lowell relative to legislation in which Lowell is interested.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 3:35 with all members present.

The petition of Thomas J. Nouras for appointment as constable was confirmed, Ald. Carmichael voting against.

Right of Way
The mayor read a communication from Eugene T. Shaw, giving the city a right of way to the Ward land given by Mrs. Dexter for a contagious hospital site. The communication was received and placed on file.

The Carney Offer
The communication from Mrs. Carney offering 40 acres of land for park and playground purposes in connection with the proposed contagious hospital was read and placed on file.

Gen. Hospital Protest
The communication from the trustees of the Lowell General Hospital and Mr. F. F. Ayer's protest against the erection of a contagious hospital on the Ward land were read by the mayor and the same were received and placed on file.

Conference With Legislators
This completed the business of the meeting and the council then went into conference with the representatives and senators from Lowell relative to legislation having to do with legislation affecting the city of Lowell.

At the conference Mayor Murphy read a letter from Mayor George W. Wright of Worcester, urging Mayor Murphy to impress upon the local representatives the necessity of keeping down on state expenditure.

"The thing that we are vitally interested in," said Mayor Murphy, "is the loan for which we are asking, the proposition to renew and refund the temporary loan," and called upon City Solicitor Hennessy to explain the situation, stating that the city solicitor was familiar with it from its inception. Mr. Hennessy dealt with the new law passed by the legislature, providing for the collection of taxes in the year in which they are due.

He called attention to the fact that the city have not seeking to borrow but to have notes renewed, and refunded until such time as they can be taken care of by the taxes collected under the new law. He said that the note coming due in June could not be paid unless taxpayers were called upon to pay their taxes up to date and that, he said, would work a hardship.

The senators and representatives present at the meeting were: Sen-ators Edward Fisher and Henry J. Draper, and Representatives Victor Francis Jewett, Henry Aehn, Jr., John J. Gilbride, Fred O. Lewis, Dennis A. Murphy and John R. Kiggins. County Commissioner Elson Barlow was also present.

The city solicitor, explaining the situation, spoke as follows: "There is some misapprehension in certain quarters as to the purpose for which the money is to be obtained, if this temporary loan bill passes the legislature, by the terms of this bill the city of Lowell will not be permitted to use one dollar. We ask to obtain refunding and renewal of the notes described as 'temporary loan notes,' and which must fall due on June 30, next. In the past, cities and towns have been allowed to make temporary loans in anticipation of taxes, for one-year terms. Pledged against these loans were the taxes of a particular year.

"For 17 years we have been going on here creating a permanent debt from this so-called 'temporary loan.' We have never been able to gather in the outstanding taxes. When the notes fell due, we did not have the assets, and many times they were not applied to the payment of the notes.

"If you have any knowledge of this city's finances, you know that notes aggregating $500,000 fall due on June 30, next. The legislature of 1913 passed a law compelling cities and towns to gather in the taxes within one year after which they are due. The old habit of the legislature has been grown into a very general custom everywhere. We don't want to spend one dollar of this $500,000. We want to renew the notes, to renew $400,000 for five years, and $100,000 for two years, that money to be paid at any time within the five years. This renewal gathers in no money for us to use. When the new bonds are retired they will be retired out of the taxes of 1912 and 1913. And these taxes shall not be applied to anything else.

"Concerning the $100,000 renewal section of this bill, I want to say that we borrow that for a period not exceeding two years. That refunding note will be paid out of the taxes of 1912 and 1913. The city will have about $400,000 outstanding in taxes. Now, if you assist in the passage of this bill, we will not have outstanding notes of over a million dollars.

"It would be practically impossible to attempt to pay off this entire $500,000 debt when it falls due on the 30th of June. If people paid up all of their taxes right away, it might be done. In theory we can say 'pay your taxes,' but this custom of allowing men to go a certain length of time before paying taxes has grown almost to have the weight of a law. To demand that men pay up every cent of the taxes assessed for 1912 and 1913 before June 30, would entail a real hardship on many; some would have to mortgage what property they own in order to do so."

Mr. Jewett wanted to know if the government contemplated going to the legislature to borrow outside of the debt limit for an industrial school.

Mayor Murphy and Commissioner Carmichael said they would not ask for it this year.

The conference concluded at 5:45.

SPLENDID $2,000,000 LINCOLN MEMORIAL ASSURED

Photos by American Press Association.

By JOHN J. BREEN.

AFTER the movement had been halted for years by a controversy as to the form it should take and as to its location the memorial to Abraham Lincoln is now fairly started toward completion and the work is sure to attract hundreds of visitors to the national capital. The first contract calls for an expenditure of $1,867,000; the statue itself not less than $50,000. It is the expressed wish of congress that the total cost of the memorial shall be kept within $2,000,000.

Standing near the Potomac river, the memorial will have a relation with the Washington monument and the capitol that would be impossible on any other site, and it will have a close relation with Arlington cemetery, where men who fought for the Union are buried. On a great axis, planned more than a century ago, there will be at one end the capitol, which is the commission points out, is the monument of the government, and to the west, more than a mile distant from the capitol, will stand for all time the monument to Washington, one of the founders of the government. Then the Lincoln memorial.

The commission, of which former President Taft was the chairman, had a strenuous time making the final selection of a site. In the end it had to decide whether the memorial should take the form of an arch on Meridian hill, in the northern part of the national capital; a monument at Fort Stephens, five miles north of the city of Washington, where President Lincoln was under fire during the raid of General Early in July, 1861; a memorial bridge, connecting Potomac park with Arlington; a road from the national capitol to Gettysburg or a memorial of pantheon form in Potomac park. The final decision of the commission was unanimously in favor of the Potomac park plan.

The Lincoln memorial will be built on the axis still farther to the west of the Washington monument by the shore of the Potomac, and as President Taft said to the commission, "We will there have the monument of the man who saved the government, thus completing an unparalleled composition which cannot fail to impart to each of its monuments a value in addition to that which each standing alone would not possess."

Four Features of Memorial.

Four features will stand out prominently in the memorial—a statue of the man, a memorial of his Gettysburg speech, a memorial of his second inaugural address and a symbol of the union of the United States which he said it was his paramount object to save, and which he did save. It is proposed that each feature shall be related to the others by means of its design and position and that each shall be so arranged that it will become an integral part of the whole in order to attain a unity and simplicity in the appearance of the monument.

The statue of Lincoln will be made the most important object in the memorial. It will be placed in the center, and this part of the memorial where the statue is placed will not be occupied by any other object that would detract from its effectiveness. The visitor to the memorial will see only the statue here.

The smaller halls at each side of the central space will each contain a memorial—one of the second inaugural address and the other of the Gettysburg address. These speeches will be shown by bronze letters arranged on a monumental tablet, and adjacent to the oratorical tablets will be in allegory Lincoln's great qualities as evident in those speeches. While it will be possible to see these memorials from any part of the hall, they will be partly screened from the central part where the statue is placed by a row of Ionic columns, thus giving a certain isolation to the space they occupy.

Surrounding the walls inclosing these memorials is planned a colonnade forming a symbol of the Union, each column representing a state, as the Union existed at the time of Lincoln's death. There will be thirty-six of these columns. On the walls appearing above the colonnade and supported at intervals by eagles will be forty-eight memorial festoons, one for each state existing at the present time.

Made of Colorado Marble.

The memorial is to be constructed of Colorado marble. By means of terraces the ground at the site of the memorial will be raised until the floor of the memorial itself will be forty-five feet higher than the present grade. In the center of the plateau constructed, surrounded by a wide roadway and walks, will rise an eminence supporting a rectangular stone terrace, wall 14 feet high, 256 feet long and 186 feet wide. On the rectangular terrace will rise the marble memorial.

The colonnade will be 189 feet. The outside of the memorial hall will be 55 feet wide and 155 feet long.

The colonnaded entrance to the memorial hall, which will be 45 feet wide and 44 feet high, will be equipped with sliding bronze grilles, filled with plate glass. These grilles during the day will be rolled back into the space provided in the walls and will be closed at night for the protection of the memorial.

The central hall where the statue will stand will be 60 feet wide, 70 feet long and 60 feet high. The halls where the memorials of the speeches will be placed will be 37 feet wide, 67 feet long and 60 feet high. The interior Ionic columns will be 50 feet high.

The memorial will be several years in building. The commission has not as yet given serious thought to the statue beyond a decision that it shall be sculptured in marble.

Henry Bacon, a New York architect, was selected by the fine arts commission to design the Lincoln memorial. Mr. Bacon has designed the greater part of the memorials to famous Americans in the country and has worked with St. Gaudens, Nicholas and other famous American sculptors. He designed the Charles Stewart Farnell monument in Dublin with Augustus St. Gaudens, who made the statue; the Governor Flower monument or memorial in Watertown, N. Y., with St. Gaudens; the Wolcott monument in Boston with Daniel C. French, the sculptor; the Benjamin Harrison monument in Indianapolis with C. J. Niehaus, the Hanna monument in Cleveland with St. Gaudens, the Melvin monument with Daniel C. French in Concord, Mass.; the Oglethorpe monument in Savannah, Ga., with French; the Samuel Speers monument in Atlanta, Ga., with French; the Carl Schurz monument with Karl Bitter in Morningside park at One Hundred and Sixteenth street; the memorial to Vice President Hobart in Paterson, N. J.; the Christopher McGee memorial in Pittsburgh with St. Gaudens, and the Marshall Field memorial in Chicago with French.

Certain refinements incorporated into the scheme of the Lincoln memorial carry one back to the architectural perfection of the golden age of Greece, when not the smallest detail was allowed to escape the artist's critical attention. The columns are made to vary from the perfect vertical by being slightly tilted in toward the building, the four corner columns being tilted more than the others. The plans also specify that the outer face of the entablature be inclined inward, though a little less than the axis of the columns below, while the wall of the memorial hall itself is to bend inward least of all. Though these inclinations will be imperceptible to the eye, it is believed that they will insure to the building an appearance of great stability and strength.

The entrance to the memorial hall will be fitted with sliding grilles filled with plate glass which may be kept closed at night and during cold weather. Provision is made for a vestibule at the bottom. In warm weather the grilles will in the day time be rolled back into spaces provided for the purpose.

The ceiling of the interior memorial hall is to be supported by massive bronze beams, gilded, colored and lacquered. Light may be introduced through the ceiling if it is found to be to the best advantage. One of the great points in favor of the idea of having the statue indoors is that there the light may be adjusted so as to set it off in the best manner. This is impossible with a statue situated in an open court or city square.

CELEBRATE TILDEN'S CENTENARY

LEADING Democrats of the country made elaborate preparations to celebrate on February 9, 1914, the one hundred anniversary of the birth of Samuel Jones Tilden. The Tilden memorial commission, of which Horan Blüder is chairman, Ralph Pulitzer vice president and Albert E. Henschel secretary, planned to place a wreath on the statesman's grave at New Lebanon, N. Y., on the Sunday preceding the anniversary, and on Tuesday evening, February 10, to hold a memorial meeting in Carnegie hall, New York. Appropriate ceremonies were arranged for in many other cities of the Union.

It is not often that a man attains political leadership through sheer intellectual ability unassociated with personal magnetism. At eighteen Tilden wrote a political paper which Van Buren, then the power in Democratic politics in New York, ordered printed as an official party appeal. It had an important part in the next Democratic victory in the state. At twenty-three Tilden was writing on national questions in a way that created a profound impression. He was admitted to the bar in 1841, but his clients were few, so he became the editor of a new political paper. After Polk's election to the presidency Tilden resumed the practice of law and was elected to the assembly, where he took a prominent part.

Several law cases of an unusual nature gave Tilden an opportunity to display his mental qualities. Thus he attracted national attention and created an interest in himself such as his learned theses on the banking system could not elicit. His methods were skillful, ingenious, novel. His success in handling a suit against a canal company gave him a big corporation business, railroads being his specialty. His most notable legal work, which was in part detective work as well, was his exposure of the Tweed ring.

When the struggle with Tweed closed with the overthrow of the ring and Tweed's imprisonment Tilden entered the assembly and helped enact laws to prevent a repetition of such a reign of loot. He became governor in 1874. He gained a nationwide reputation for reform and built up a great political organization. He was master of his party in the greatest state in the Union, so he easily secured the presidential nomination in 1876.

Rutherford B. Hayes was his opponent. The Republican party had been losing ground. The Democrats naturally expected to carry the south. When the election returns came in South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana were claimed by the Republicans. A contest ensued in the three states. Ex-

There was fear of an uprising and civil war. President Grant ordered Sherman to have the army in readiness. The canvassing boards decided the contests in favor of Hayes, giving him 185 electoral votes to 154 for Tilden.

The time approached for congress to count the electoral votes in joint session. Under the law "no electoral vote objected to shall be counted, except by the concurrent vote of the two houses." The senate was Republican, the house by a vote of 5 to 7, the members dividing on strict party lines, the decision was given to Hayes.

In those strenuous days the resentment of the Democrats was quieted in a measure by the production of dispatches in cipher showing that some of Tilden's friends had endeavored to bribe returning boards and individual electors in states where contests occurred. Tilden appeared before the investigating committee and took oath that he knew nothing of any of the Democratic. Either branch could prevent the counting of an electoral vote. They compromised and created an electoral commission whose decision should be final—five members of the house, five members of the senate and five supreme court judges. There were seven from each party, and Judge David Davis, who was rated as an independent, was to be the fifteenth. But at this juncture he was elected senator from Illinois and declined to serve on the commission. A Republican Judge made the fifteenth. After a very telegrams and that when he learned of certain negotiations in South Carolina he stopped them.

Tilden now passed out of public life. His position was practically the same as that of an ex-president. Now and then his party asked some opinion of the "sage of Gramercy park," but it soon began to speak of him deferentially in the past tense. Some were disappointed because he had not shown himself more combative, had yielded so readily in the face of seeming injustice. He had not fought as

He declined to permit himself to be nominated by his party in 1892. He withdrew more and more to his books.

When he died, in 1896, he left a fortune of $3,000,000 to be devoted to public uses. Great lawyer though he was, the lawyers upset the will, and the larger part of his estate went to collateral heirs. He had never married.

Tilden never held a federal office. He was never a representative or a senator or a cabinet officer, yet it may be doubted if any man since Lincoln exerted so great an influence upon national affairs. He was characterized as "the great American reformer." His successful fight against the Tweed ring was the beginning of the great movement to throw off the shackles of political corruption which the civil war riveted upon the country. His successful fight against the canal ring gave a new impetus to political reform in nearly every northern state. It was under his leadership that the Democratic party was politically rehabilitated, and the political rehabilitation of the Democratic party compelled a moral rehabilitation of the Republican party.

It is possible that historians will always divide on the question whether or not Tilden was fraudulently deprived of the presidency, but there cannot be two opinions as to the great patriotism which he exhibited during the tremendous conflict which brought the country almost to the edge of another civil war.

HOSPITAL SITE FOR "NOTHING"

Some wise citizens with an abnormally developed sense of civic consciousness have solved the contagious hospital question to their entire satisfaction and to the amazement of those of the public who have a good sense of business and property values. These discoverers of the obvious are urging on the municipal council the acceptance by the city of the recent "gift" in Pawtucketville which would give the city a contagious hospital site "for nothing." As unfortunately the state board, backed by a mandate of the legislature, requires something more than a site it may be well to think twice before we decide that the city ought to accept the Ward land and the other "playground or park" land which is thrown in to make the "gift" especially attractive.

In view of the vigorous protest of Frederick Fanning Ayer, any location of such hospital in the neighborhood of the Lowell General hospital would be injurious, if not disastrous to the latter. As the greatest benefactor of our city, Mr. Ayer is entitled to consideration in the matter. In this case it happens that his request can be granted without in any way affecting the city's best interests. The Ward land is unacceptable for many reasons as a site for a contagious hospital because of its being in a wilderness, so to speak, and without sewerage, water and buildings.

Assuming that there was no obstacle to the acceptance of the Ward land—that there was no Pillsbury site in the controversy—it would even then be ill advised to accept the offer, not only on account of Mr. Ayer's objection, but because of the great expense necessary to grade the land, to construct roads, sidewalks and sewers, to lay water mains, put in a lighting system, and finally to erect suitable buildings. Viewed in comparison with the Pillsbury site an expenditure of $50,000 and a delay of ten years would be required to bring the Ward land into the same class with the Pillsbury estate in point of meeting the real requirements of a site for a contagious hospital. In this light, therefore, the Ward land although offered for nothing would eventually prove far more expensive than the Pillsbury site, the Hope site, or any of the others mentioned as acceptable.

On the other hand, in the Pillsbury site the city has a beautifully developed location with all the advantages of isolation, ample territory, accessibility, good water supply, and scenic beauty. Best of all, there is on this location a large and well appointed residence suitable for the purpose of a home for consumptives, with slight alteration. Consumptive patients require pleasant surroundings and a home atmosphere, both of which are here and all at the very moderate price of $21,000, slightly over the assessed value. If by sheer obstinacy the municipal council adds the cost of a special election to the expense of providing a contagious hospital it will only be increasing the evil it pretends to mitigate.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

It is obvious that in Dracut, Tewksbury and practically all other surrounding towns one of the crying needs is for better fire protection. In the past, these places attended to their local needs as best they could with an inadequate force, depending on Lowell to send apparatus and men in case of extraordinary need. The time came when Lowell did not dare to leave any of its territory unprotected and the result was a general agitation of the question of fire protection such as we now see in the contiguous towns. The problem is not merely local, and it was one of the matters discussed at the Trenton convention that gave birth to the new "Trenton idea" community spirit.

A short time ago the need for better fire protection was felt in Newport, R.I., owing to some particularly disastrous fires in the vicinity. A suggestion of one of the leading papers of Newport was that the authorities of the contiguous communities should get together and devise some means by which these smaller places would give a proportionately small appropriation yearly to the larger city for adequate fire protection. Either apparatus specially set aside could thus be purchased or some Newport apparatus could be availed of and manned by members of the Newport fire department. With the development of the automobile fire apparatus, this scheme could be easily made practicable, but there would be the danger of fires breaking out in two widely separated sections with consequent misunderstanding.

The main objection to any such scheme as this among the smaller communities is of a sentimental nature, for these places do not like to be dependent, and they feel that they are fully able to take care of their own problems. This may be very true, but a disastrous fire destroys such sentimentality easily and shows the need for stronger business relations between the large city and the smaller places surrounding in the matter of fire protection than mere sentimentality. It must be apparent to all unbiased people that no matter how much fires in the surrounding territory are retarded, the city cannot go on forever in readiness to safeguard the interests of its neighbors. Now is the time for the adoption of some scheme which will be advantageous to the towns while being fair to Lowell.

OUR TILLABLE LAND

We may well pause in incredulity at the recently published estimates of the department of agriculture which place the percentage of the tillable land of the United States as low as twenty-seven per cent. These estimates are the result of long and deep investigation a feature of which was the receiving of letters from thirty-five thousand correspondents in all sections of the country. The government gained its information in an effort to discover how much of the tillable land of America can be used for crops that require the use of the plough, how much for pasturing and fruit raising, and how much can be used for any agricultural purpose. According to the government report, the entire United States excluding the foreign possessions, contains about nineteen hundred million acres of which about sixty per cent, or eleven hundred and forty million acres is accounted tillable, that is, considered capable of being cultivated by means of the plough. This includes lands that may be made tillable by clearing, draining or irrigation.

This percentage of tillable land is extremely low in itself, but when we ascertain that of this only twenty-seven per cent, is cultivated, we can see the need for natural conservation and agricultural development in a national sense. Probably no movement has a more direct result in reducing the cost of living than that which has to do with the cultivation of farms and the raising of food products and the energies of the government are now being directed to this end. By education and legislation all that concerns rural development is being fostered and protected, and with the full national recognition of the danger of dependence on outside aid for our food supplies or part of them, there will be a change for the better. The farmer holds the centre of the stage and daily revelations from the government investigators reveal the need for the national taking up of the slogan: "Back to the land."

A DISTINGUISHED CRITIC

One of the few really distinguished men that have come out in open condemnation of President Wilson's trust-busting plans is Mr. Wickersham, attorney-general under Mr. Taft. Undoubtedly his criticism is sincere and he has demonstrated that the Sherman act had in him a tireless champion while in power. Nevertheless his views lose weight when we remember that after long and bitter litigation, the so-called trust dissolutions under him were merely perfunctory and did nothing beyond getting a nominal compliance with the federal law.

He criticizes particularly the proposed clause to abolish the rule of reason and make the legal definition of what constitutes monopoly more distinct. Undoubtedly his chief objection to this particular clause is that it is supported by the democratic party, and he would discover many virtues in it if urged by Mr. Taft and the republicans generally. This proposal of President Wilson has been advocated by the progressive party, and if Mr. Wickersham looks up the last party platform of the republicans he will find the following:

"The party favors the enactment of legislation supplementary to the existing anti-trust act, which will define as criminal offenses those specific acts which uniformly mark attempts to restrain and monopolize, to the end that all who obey the law may have a guide for their action and that those who aim to violate the law may be more surely be punished."

This is even more specific than the recommendation of President Wilson on the same subject.

By the way, What has become of Harry Thaw, Gen. Hertha, Mrs. Parkhurst, and the hundreds of terrible fellows that were using the poison needle a month ago?

The city can scarcely afford to offend so generous and public spirited a donor as Frederick Fanning Ayer. We have too few like him.

How an epidemic would change the situation!

EDITORIAL COMMENT

UNCLE SAM'S SERVANTS

New Bedford Times: In a government office, bureau, printing shop or mint the employees are in a way his own boss. His pay, or at least a portion of it, comes from himself and the millions of other workmen of this country, and there is no big dividend going to the manufacturer. Such a condition, it would seem, must meet the conditions for which the trade union was organized.

It is the workmen who are largely responsible for the very thing that is being raised for government owned and operated railroad, telephone, telegraph and other service lines. Considerations for government ownership of these lines claim that the workmen and public will both profit by the plan. The need of unionizing the men who work for Uncle Sam and is paid by the people? It would seem as though the time and effort required for organization might be spent in other lines to better advantage.

VILLA OF MEXICO

Worcester Post: General Villa's disclaimer of any intention to become president of Mexico and his declaration that he will never govern Mexico, and that he will remain content to be a soldier and the constitution, has caused, it is thought, just now, for the remarkable ability he has shown as a military man has been the cause of much anxiety among the real friends of Mexico, lest he repeat the role so frequently played by past successful soldiers. Really, the spirit he at least professes and which is that of the greater part of the rebel movement, and all the disorder, cruelties, and the other things that include, is the only thing that contains the only hope for the future of that distracted land.

A LA LITERARY TEST

Providence Tribune: That immigrants are keenly interested in schooling for their children, or at least conspicuously obedient to school attendance laws, is the declaration of Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. "The least illiterate of our population are," the native born children of foreign parents," says Dr. Claxton in a bulletin on educational immigrants just issued. "The illiterates among the children of native born parents are three times as great as that among native born children of foreign parents."

REFORMATORIES

Lynn Telegram: The penal institutions of the state have come in for much criticism recently and perhaps it has been deserved. The latest to be attacked is the reformatory at Concord and the attack comes from one of the former inmates who declared in court that all he knew about crime—and he has an extensive record—was learned in that place. He pleaded with the court which was to sentence him for nine months and modifications of it, the Amoskeag bank building stands as an impressive object lesson to every citizen. There it stands, intact and unharmed, between the smoking ruins of the other days and the more modern buildings to the northward which would have contributed to change an ordinary fire to the proportions of a sweeping conflagration. The vindication of the Amoskeag bank building as a lesson in safe construction was sure to come some time. It had come sooner than was to have been expected.

THE BUILDING CODE

Manchester Union: At a time when there is agitation and discussion over the building code and modifications of it, the Amoskeag bank building stands as an impressive object lesson to every citizen. There it stands, intact and unharmed, between the smoking ruins of the other days and the more modern buildings to the northward which would have contributed to change an ordinary fire to the proportions of a sweeping conflagration. The vindication of the Amoskeag bank building as a lesson in safe construction was sure to come some time. It had come sooner than was to have been expected.

FIRE THIS MORNING

A chimney fire in a building at 113 Broad street shortly after 8 o'clock this morning gave the members of the fire department an unnecessary run. When the apparatus arrived the fire was practically extinguished. No damage was done.

NEWS OF LEGISLATURE

NEARLY 100 BILLS AFFECTING THE CIVIL SERVICE INTRODUCED—BILLS CONCERNING LOWELL

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Nearly 100 bills affecting the civil service in one way or another have been introduced into the present legislature and referred to the committee on public service. No such number of civil service bills has been sent to any legislature in a decade. Hearings on them will cover several weeks.

Interest in the house and senate will come principally with proposed additions to the classified list, particularly in behalf of the county employees. The net result of this unprecedented quantity of legislation affecting the civil service will be an extension of the classified list beyond all previous yearly limits," said Secretary Arthur H. Brooks of Massachusetts civil service association yesterday.

The civil service commission is urging bills: Giving of preference to American citizens; to establish experimental yards or stations for testing appointments; in addition to written tests; establishing salary grades for clerks and stenographers employed by the state; to include county employees in the classified lists; proposed, it was stated yesterday, because of protests against so-called "county rages."

The attitude of the Massachusetts Civil Service association toward the 1914 crop of bills to extend the civil service classified class, was yesterday defined by Secretary Brooks, as due no doubt to the fact that the persons in public employ are beginning to realize the many advantages they will gain if their positions are classified and protected from hostile political action.

"The legislature in the past," he said, "has often thrown out these bills because by passing them they inevitably give more fixed and perhaps permanent tenure to the unclassified office-holding class. In other words they will cover them in without examination."

"The history of this subject shows that practically all the extensions of the law to new positions have been made with this result, and yet the objection urged has not in the long run been objectionable, for new appointments are made subject to the law."

Foremost among bills of a special character is that which proposes that veterans of the Spanish war receive certain credits in civil service examinations, sponsored by Representative Hurley of Marlboro and suggested by ex-Representative John J. Murphy of South Boston. The fight is to be made around the provision by which 5 per cent. shall be added to the marks of Spanish war veterans who may be examined.

"This year," said Secretary Brooks, "as in other years, the Massachusetts Civil Service association has unalterably opposed preferential legislation in the matter of civil service, and it proposes to make a little stiffer fight than ever against the Spanish war veterans' act."

"The Spanish war was hardly over before its veterans sought preferential

In the civil service. Their numerous bills have been defeated year after year with great difficulty, sometimes by only one vote and sometimes by a narrow margin. No governor thus far has failed to affirm his veto to all such bills and to stand firmly for the maintenance of the merit system.

The most important of the many bills affecting Lowell in the legislature this session is the bill No. 1291 which would permit the city to negotiate a loan to pay off $100,000 of its temporary debt. There has not as yet been an assignment for a hearing, but the Lowell delegation is ready to take action when the bill comes from the printer. Many other cities of the state are watching the progress of this bill for it is meant to meet an emergency which is felt elsewhere.

Public Market

Rep. Dennis A. Murphy will introduce a bill at this session which will carry the referendum to the voters of Lowell at the next state election as to whether they desire a public market in this city. Mr. Murphy was prompted to introduce this bill by the popular support of the project locally when the hearing was held here attended by many interested people from the city and surrounding communities. If the bill goes into effect the project will be enabled to decide whether this city shall or shall not maintain such a market and if the vote of the people is registered in the affirmative, the city will be compelled to take land or building on to acquire them or to erect structures on land owned or acquired by the city or to rent any such structure or land to be used as a public market.

Another bill to be introduced by Mr. Murphy would grant old age pensions to all employees of the city over 65 years of age, provided they have labored for 20 years in the service of the city. The bill would also retire any employee, no matter what his age, if after 15 years' service to the city, he is incapacitated.

Concord River

The proposed cleaning up of the Concord river will be aided in the legislature in the near future, for John R. Higgins intends to introduce a bill to appropriate $10,000 for the purpose. The bill is now before the committee on harbors and public lands. Mr. Higgins says that the health of the many campers and clubs along the river banks demands the cleaning of the river as well as the sanitary interests of Lowell.

FOR ST. ELIZABETH'S HOSPITAL

Continued

Though none of the parish reports was final, the fund nears the $3000 mark. Some of the priests in charge of the parish collections said that were it not for the heavy rain of Saturday the results would have been far better for most of the parishes depended in great measure on their Saturday collection in making up their allotment. To offset the efforts of the collectors will be more energetic than ever today as it is the aim of Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan to send in the total collected tomorrow.

This does not necessarily mean that all collections will stop this evening, for any parishes that will not have made up their allotment will continue to collect until the end of the campaign in the archdiocese. Money collected after today, however, will be sent in as a supplementary report.

Parish Totals

The totals for the various parishes that have reported to date are as follows: St. Margaret's $200; Immaculate Conception, $180.25; Sacred Heart, $104.65; St. Peter's, $374.10; St. Patrick's, $470; St. Michael's, $443.35; St. Columba's, $150; St. Louis', $127.55; Notre Dame de Lourdes, $65. The parishes as yet unreported from are: St. John Baptist, Holy Trinity (Polish) and St. Joseph's (Lithuanian).

The amount of the local collection to date is $2816.90. At last night's meeting it was reported that St. Margaret's was the first church to reach its allotment and St. Patrick's and St. Michael's are on the margin. By this evening it is expected that most of the parishes if not all will have turned in the expected amounts.

Those who have not been reached by the collectors are requested to get in touch with the priest in charge of the work in each parish, as it is probable that many who would gladly contribute may be overlooked in the general collection. The parishes looking after the collection in the respective parishes are: St. Patrick's, Rev. Joseph A. Curtin; St. Peter's, Rev. D. J. Hefferman; Immaculate Conception, Rev. Owen McQuill; O. M. L.; St. Michael's, Rev. Dennis M. Murphy; Sacred Heart, Rev. James T. McDermott; O. M. L.; St. Margaret's, Rev. Henry Reardon; St. Columba's, Rev. John Heagerty; St. Louis, Rev. Lucien Bedard; St. Jean Baptiste, Rev. Hervé Taquette; O. M. L.; Notre Dame de Lourdes, Rev. Fr. Magan.

The Hospital

Architecturally, the new St. Elizabeth's hospital will be one of the finest in New England. The monastic style has been followed in design and construction. The exterior walls of the building are of brick, over which has been plastered white cement. The roof is red tiled. The central building is parallel to Cambridge street and has a frontage of 250 feet. There is a wing extending to the south at either end of the main building, and in this way a court is formed. It is the plan of the authorities, in the future extension and development of the hospital, to erect a tower at the end of each of these wings, attributing a most picturesque appearance to the structure, as well as providing suitable for extensively used for operation purposes. From the towers there will extend to the south two more wings containing wards, and the extended wings will be completed by a building parallel to the main building and consisting of a beautiful chapel. The entire work on one side to be used as a home for the nurses and the other for the Sisters.

DECREASE RATES

New System of Interstate Express Rates Effective in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The new system of interstate express rates on a scale 16 per cent lower than those formerly prevailing became effective today under orders issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In the same basis of decrease in rates, the states of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, New Jersey, Illinois and Louisiana will put into force a new system on intra-state express business.

The new interstate rates are based upon a block system, the country being divided into 825 blocks, formed by the intersections of the meridians of longitude and parallels of latitude. The first and second class charges are based upon rates per 100 pounds. Third class rates are one cent for each two ounces, not to exceed first class rates.

Another important feature of the new express rate system now in force is that every express office in the United States will be able to determine and quote a rate to every other express office in the United States. A new uniform express receipt also becomes effective today. Hereafter each company has used a separate form of receipt.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear "twindows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Opton; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Opton tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eyestrain, cataracts, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late. Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnificence eyes through the prescription here given.—Advertisement.

ACTRESS STOPS PANIC

CRY MISTAKEN FOR "FIRE" ALARMS
700 PEOPLE IN A NEW YORK THEATRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—A vaudeville performer's presence of mind averted a panic in a theatre where a concert was in progress last night. Cries of "Flight, flight," coming from the top gallery, where an altercation had broken out, were mistaken by those in the lower balconies and the orchestra for cries of "Fire," and a rush for the doors of the 700 or more persons in the audience started.

Fita Golden, the singer who occupied the stage at the time, directed the musicians to strike up a patriotic air, and her continued presence on the stage singing to their accompaniment, together with shouted explanation by the manager that there was no danger, reassured the crowd and the rush to the street was turned into a fairly orderly exodus.

Several persons were injured in the first crush, but none seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

Police—Card Players Arrested

Alfred Girouard, the man captured Saturday by Lieut. Maher and who is wanted by the Nashua police for several holdups in that city, was arraigned today on the charge of carrying a revolver. His case was held over until tomorrow, but Girouard will be turned over to the Nashua police for the charges against him there.

Peter Morin was one of a crowd who were shooting craps in a doorway on Ford street, yesterday, when Officer O'Neil happened to come along. Morin was the only one of the crowd who was caught and his poor showing as a sprinter cost him $5 this morning.

Sunday Card Game

A squad of police officers, headed by Lieut. Freeman, raided a smoking room in Union street last night and seven men were arrested on the charge of "being present at a game on the Lord's day" were in police court this morning. They gave the following names:

Michael Sullivan, John Powers, Fred H. Baker, Robert H. Duffy, John E. Callahan and Frank P. Donnelly. All pleaded guilty and were fined $10 each. Joseph McDonald had his case placed on file owing to the fact that he stepped into the room on business.

The police court dock was filled to overflowing this morning when Judge Enright took his place upon the bench. The majority of the cases were simple drunken offenders, however, which were quickly disposed of.

Fred Jackson, a man from the woods of New Hampshire, pleaded guilty to drunkenness. Officer Conroy told the court that the man was very drunk and chased another man with a knife Saturday. The defendant told a straightforward story about the affair and, as it was his first offense, Judge Enright released him and sent him back to his home.

William A. Connell appeared in court with a badly cut head which was swathed in bandages. Connell did not know how he received the cuts and bruises on his cranium. In view of the fact that the defendant was in need of medical treatment, Judge Enright sent him to jail for ten days.

Malcolm J. Lafrance pleaded guilty to drunkenness. Officer Drexell said defendant hung around barrooms and wouldn't work. Lafrance received a suspended sentence of two months in jail.

Joseph Kelley, a barber from Boston who seems to prefer Lowell liquor to that of his home village, was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail on condition that he immediately make tracks for Boston. Kelly fervently promised to do this and was sent forth. Daniel J. Shea was sent to the state farm for his third offense of drunkenness within a year and Dennis O. Shea received a $5 fine for the second offense.

George Galtian, with a residence and family in Lawrence was fined $5, and John J. Brennan received a like penalty.

Flavian Lattenville and Patrick Wall were each taxed $5 for their second drop from the water cart within the current year. Thomas F. Murray was sent to the state farm for drunkenness and Michael A. Sullivan went to jail for four months. Lewis H. Cheney was sent to jail for twenty days to get the liquor out of his system. Officer Bigelow said that the defendant has been drinking heavily for some time but that he was an inoffensive chap even when drunk.

Saturday seemed to be a record breaking day for arrests for drunkenness.

DEMANDS OF FIRE AND STREET DEPARTMENTS

They Want Much Larger Appropriations Than Last Year—Mayor Murphy Asks for $35,000 Extra on Account of Mothers' Pension Law

If the municipal council could vote themselves all the money asked for in their estimates the tax rate will be made to do a sky rocket stunt. Commissioner Morse wants over $50,000 more than was allowed the street department last year and Commissioner Carmichael will ask for about $10,000 more than was allowed the fire department last year and he will also submit estimates on more motor propelled fire apparatus, including a new car for Chief Saunders. The chief's car went out of commission a few days ago. If cars can be credited with dispositions the chief's car had a tough one. It was balky and hateful in every way. Unless closely watched and governed it would attempt pole climbing and it didn't make any difference if it was a telegraph pole, light pole or trolley pole. Chief Saunders avers that the thing was contrary enough to be human and when it comes to consigning it to the junk heap he will approve of the funeral. The car is four or five years old. The chief borrowed the water department's old Buick car and is using it at the present time.

New Motor Apparatus
The new motor apparatus asked for by the fire department will consist of the chief's machine, two trucks and a tractor for the old La France truck that has never been of any particular use to the fire department. This machine was bought by a committee composed of members of the old city government and has always been a misfit. The few times that it was sent out it came back minus bolts or something else and now in order to render it serviceable it will have to be dropped down and made over. The truck is altogether too high and estimates are being prepared on the cost of dropping it, making it over and supplying the tractor. The chances are there will be a strong argument against the re-vamping of this truck; an argument to the effect that it has never been of any service to the city and that the city can get along without it this year as well as last year or any preceding year. If the council should vote for two new motor trucks, one would be placed in Gorham street and the other in one of the two stations in Centralville, either the Fourth street house or the West Sixth street house. Commissioner Carmichael talks as if he would not force the issue relative to the purchase of more motor fire apparatus. There are two propositions that he will put up to the council and let it go at that. The purchase of the machines constitutes one of the propositions and the retention or dismissal of ten firemen who were appointed by ex-Commissioner Barrett in December of last year, the other.

His proposition relative to the firemen is to submit two estimates, one including the wages of ten men for the year, which would represent about $10,000 and the other dispensing with their services. Mr. Barrett appointed 12 men in December, or late in the year, and two of these have already left to go on the ground that their appointments were not legal. Commissioner Carmichael does not say that the appointments of the other ten men were not legal, but he says the matter is in doubt and he allows that even though their appointments were all right it would not be necessary to continue them in service if their services were not required. The estimate that would include the ten men and continue them along would figure $14,514.43 and the estimate that does not provide for them would figure $140,412.43. This means permanent men. The estimate for call men would show a decrease of $2200 providing the ten regular men were retained, because the extra number of permanent men would reduce the number of call men. Taking all in all it looks as if the council would not favor the retention of the ten permanent men appointed by Mr. Barrett in December, 1912.

The fire department appropriation for 1913 was $157,000 and $4733.46 of that appropriation remained at the end of the year. It was stated that $1000 of the money left over was transferred to the charity department and the rest went back to the city treasury.

In discussing estimates and appropriations today, Col. Carmichael said that it was necessary to ask for more money this year in order to be prepared for unforeseen expenses. "You know that under the new law, which became operative this year," said the colonel, "we are obliged to get along with the appropriations granted us at the first of the year; the original appropriations. We cannot go back and ask to be helped out during the year and in view of that fact it is well to be on the safe side. I have asked for $196,990.57 and part of that amount is intended for emergencies for there is none of us so wise as to foretell accidents."

Street Department Estimate

The municipal council will meet tomorrow forenoon at 11 o'clock and the council may proceed to consider and discuss the estimates, but the chances are that the estimates will not be taken up for a day or two and when they are taken up there will be no other business before the meeting. It will be absolutely necessary to do a lot of praying and it remains to be seen how well the department heads will stand the part. They will all be given opportunity to show how anxious they are to retrench and curtail.

The street department estimate for this year includes new items and street lighting included, calls for $33,600. This is a big amount, considerably more than was appropriated last year and it will be interesting to watch where the slashing will be done in Mr. Morse's estimate.

The street department appropriation for 1913 was itemized as follows: Streets, $10,000; street watering, $15,000; street lighting, $100,000; sewer maintenance, $15,000; engineering department, $5000; total, $235,000.

Mr. Morse's estimate for 1914 is itemized as follows: Street maintenance, $15,000; street watering, $15,000; graveling and snow expense, $20,000; oiling streets, $20,000; sewer maintenance, $15,000; engineering department, $5000; pensions (Green and Hawthorth), $500; total, $235,000. To this amount is added the street lighting, $100,000, bringing the total up to making a grand total of $335,000. The items mentioned in the street department estimate for 1914 that do not appear in the estimate for 1913 are: graveling, oiling streets and pensions. Heretofore the graveling of streets was done by loan, but this year it will have to be done out of the regular street appropriation. This is one excuse for Mr. Morse asking for more money than was expended last year.

More Money for Mayor

Mayor Murphy will ask for $35,000 to take care of the expenses connected with the mothers' pension act and he doubts if $35,000 will cover it. The expense is already $2000 a month and new cases come in at the rate of from four to ten a month.

CURLEY INAUGURATED MAYOR OF BOSTON

Congressman Succeeds John F. Fitzgerald as Mayor of the Hub —Will Fulfill Every Pledge Made

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Congressman James M. Curley was inaugurated as mayor of Boston today in succession to John F. Fitzgerald. The oath of office

JAMES M. CURLEY
Mayor of Boston

was administered by Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg of the supreme court and the mayor delivered an inaugural address.

Mayor Curley's election was the second under the present charter provided for a four year term, with the right of recall by the voters under certain conditions, at the end of two years. Mr. Curley was elected to congress as a democrat and is serving his second term. On the municipal ballot no party designations were permitted.

Mayor Curley took the oath of office before a gathering that considerably exceeded the capacity of Tremont Temple, one of the largest auditoriums in the city.

The greater part of the inaugural message dealt with city finances, which, Mr. Curley said, would have shown today a city treasury without a dollar but for an extraordinary effort to collect taxes in the closing days of the last administration.

The mayor laid emphasis on the industrial development of the city and favored the tender of sites without costs to manufacturers agreeing to locate here.

"I propose," he said, "to contribute $2,000 of my annual salary, and shall invite similar contributions from public-spirited citizens for the promotion of such industrial work. By such a policy it will be possible in ten years to add $50,000,000 to the realty value of the city."

A monthly conference by representatives of church, capital and labor to plan a policy constructive in character and anticipating 20 or more years' growth in municipal life was favored by Mayor Curley.

"Such a commission created 20 years ago would have kept down the tax rate and the city debt," he said, "and would have prevented the present unsightly elevated system, short-sighted and wholly inadequate system of tunnels and subways."

The mayor expressed himself in favor of abolishing parental schools and correctional institutions for truants and minor offenders and substituting a policy of farming out the boys.

LOWELL GIRL IS MISSING

Miss Ethel M. Stevens, 17-year-old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stevens of 211 Concord street, this city, disappeared from home last Thursday and has not been seen since, and the parents fear the young woman is now married. For it was found Saturday night that the young woman and a young man giving the name of Everett A. Lapham of Melrose, had been granted a marriage license by the city clerk in Melrose. The police of the latter city as well as the officials of Boston were notified, but as yet no clue has been found that would lead to the finding of the couple.

It is evident that the marriage had been planned by the young couple, for on Monday, Jan. 26, Lapham called at the city clerk's office in Melrose and filed his application for a marriage license. He gave his name as Everett A. Lapham, 21 years of age, and his address 34 Stevens place, Melrose, while the name of the young woman as given was Miss Ethel M. Stevens, same address, aged 18, and daughter of William H. Stevens. According to the law the license could not be given out until Saturday, but early Saturday afternoon the young man called at the city clerk's office and inasmuch as no protest had been filed with the clerk the license was issued.

The young woman, according to Mr. Stevens left her home last Thursday afternoon, saying she was going to Lawrence to meet her father, but instead of going to the down-river city, she boarded a car for Melrose. Mrs. Stevens said the girl will be 15 years of age on July 22. She said the child was adopted when she was nine years of age and she remained with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens ever since. Up to last Thursday she was employed in the glass and tinware department of Nelson's Colonial store.

When she left home Miss Stevens wore a black suit and black hat with white band and white feather, and black shoes. She is a blonde and very pretty. She is about 5 feet and 6 inches in height and weighs about 100 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are opposed to the marriage because they feel that the girl is too young. They never suspected their daughter would leave them, especially to marry Lapham, for the young man had called at the home on but two occasions, Christmas night and a week ago last night. The girl never said a word about her project, but the parents believe that the plans had been arranged beforehand and that upon his last visit the young man arranged with the girl to have her meet him the following Thursday.

The Melrose and Boston police were notified and they are looking for the pair. "I want the young man arrested," said Mrs. Stevens to the writer, "and I want my daughter returned to me. She cannot marry until she is 21 years of age and until such time I want to keep her with me."

TO HELP WIVES OF VETERANS
To prevent civil war veterans who are in disagreement with their wives from withholding part of their pensions from their better halves, is the last bill that Congressman John Jacob Rogers of this city has introduced into the legislature.

It is said that more than 100 veterans now refuse to sign their pension vouchers because their wives would receive half of the money.

CRUCIAL BATTLE TO BE FOUGHT AT TORREON

JIMINEZ, Mex., Feb. 2.—Uncertain as to when they would be ordered to begin the attack upon the federal army at Torreon, the scene of the most important impending conflict in Mexico, 10,000 rebels mobilized here and along the railroad south of here today and awaited the coming of General Francisco Villa.

With their forces drawing in from the south, west and east of Torreon and with the troops mobilized to the north, the rebel generals assert they will attack the city with a total strength of 16,000. The rebel army is divided into the commands of five brigadier generals, including Don-clovis Herrera, Rosalio, Hernandez and Toribio Ortega, with General Villa commanding the division. While their main body is still more than a hundred miles north of Torreon their advance guards extend to within a few miles of the city. About 40 field pieces and great quantities of ammunition have been shipped southward in readiness for the attack.

Federals in Luck Ditch
Against the rebels, the federal army under Gen. Velasco will put forth as formidable a defense as their means will permit. The federal strength is estimated by the rebels at from 6000 upwards. It is expected that the rebels will outnumber the federals at least two to one. General Velasco's soldiers, however, have the advantage of positions and are said to be supplied with superior artillery.

Torreon, with 25,000 population, an important railroad center and the industrial seat of the La Guana cotton districts besides having the largest soap factory in Mexico, has a natural defense to the west. It is flanked on the west by a series of hills and canyons. On these hills which have a sweeping command of the city, over a river to the north and over the flat Laguna district eastward, the federals have planted their cannon. One hill in particular, known as La Cruz, has been converted into a veritable fort, bristling with long range guns.

Cut Off Railroad Communication
It will be for the possession of these hills that the preliminary battle will be fought. In case of defeat, the federals ordinarily would follow the railroad southward to Zacatecas or eastward to Saltillo. The rebels operating in these districts have been ordered to cut off railroad communication in both directions from Torreon before the attack begins. Because of these preliminaries it is likely that the attack on the city will be deferred for some days.

Gen. Villa, Herrera and Ortega have had previous experience in attacks on Torreon. The city has changed hands several times. In the Madro revolution attention was attracted to Torreon because of the massacre there of several hundred Chinese.

GENERAL VILLA, REBEL COMMANDER, OFF FOR CHIHUAHUA

JUAREZ, Mex., Feb. 2.—Gen. Francisco Villa, the rebel commander, will leave here tonight for Chihuahua to prepare for his campaign south. He probably will remain in Chihuahua for a week before he starts for Torreon to take personal command of his troops.

COUNTERFEITING

PLANT

Newsboys Gave the Boston Police Tip and Two Men Known in Italy and America Captured

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—A carefully planned scheme for locating a sudden flood of counterfeit bills on the streets of Boston through the agency of small boys was yesterday successfully thwarted through the police.

By the arrest at an early hour of two men who are said to have been for years in the side of the government of Italy and the United States as successful makers and distributors of false money, the police believe they have struck at the root of the conspiracy.

The men, Giuseppe Viola and Giovanni Lalla, were seized as they entered the house of Giuseppe Piazza at 42 Hale street, where a crude but effective counterfeiting plant was found.

They had already, the police say, begun to pour out a stream of plated half dollars, $75 of which were found in a bag in one of their rooms.

Their simple and direct business method, it is charged, was the strongest proposition to poor Italian boys, "$50 of our money for $25 of yours—and no one can tell the difference."

Federal officers said yesterday that the work of these men, if they are the counterfeiters as charged, was novel in counterfeiting history.

Almost No Secrecy

Instead of the care and secrecy usually exercised in such schemes, their line of operation was put out any sort of a disguised initiation plan that would "get by" with the thoughtless or ignorant, offer them almost openly to "ticks" usually boys, dump their whole product of a day or two and make their getaway.

Their faith in luck, however, was in their Boston operations, misplaced, and led to their capture. For it was the cleverness of newsboys on whom the fake half dollars had been passed that gave their scheme away almost on the eve of their departure for other fields.

The taking into custody of Viola and Lalla followed the contraband of a number of Italian lads, who the police think had no hand in making bad money, but were merely caught by the glowing offer of "$50 for $25."

Mystery attached yesterday to the exact connection with the counterfeiters of Colaborio Ruino, an other man, who gave the address of 6 Bulfinch street. According to the police he was a "partner" of the concern, holding out the fake coin in small amounts after Viola and Lalla had made it.

Piazza, who harbored the alleged counterfeiters at 42 Hale street, is charged to have been cognizant of what they were doing, even to the extent of lending his kitchen stove for melting the base metal they used in their spurious coins, but to have tried to establish an alibi by always being out of the house while this process was in progress. Viola and Lalla are said to have selected Piazza as their landlord because they knew he was out of work and "hard up" and would not object to anything that brought money into the house—not even to making it there.

Newsboys Furnish Tip

The first hint that the flood of counterfeit money was on in Boston was given Saturday evening, when newsboys came to Patrolman Patrick O'Brien, on duty near the North station, with new shiny, but clearly counterfeit 50-cent pieces.

They said that a gang of lads not much older than themselves were dumping out the things in the North and West Ends and further they knew at least one of the crowd.

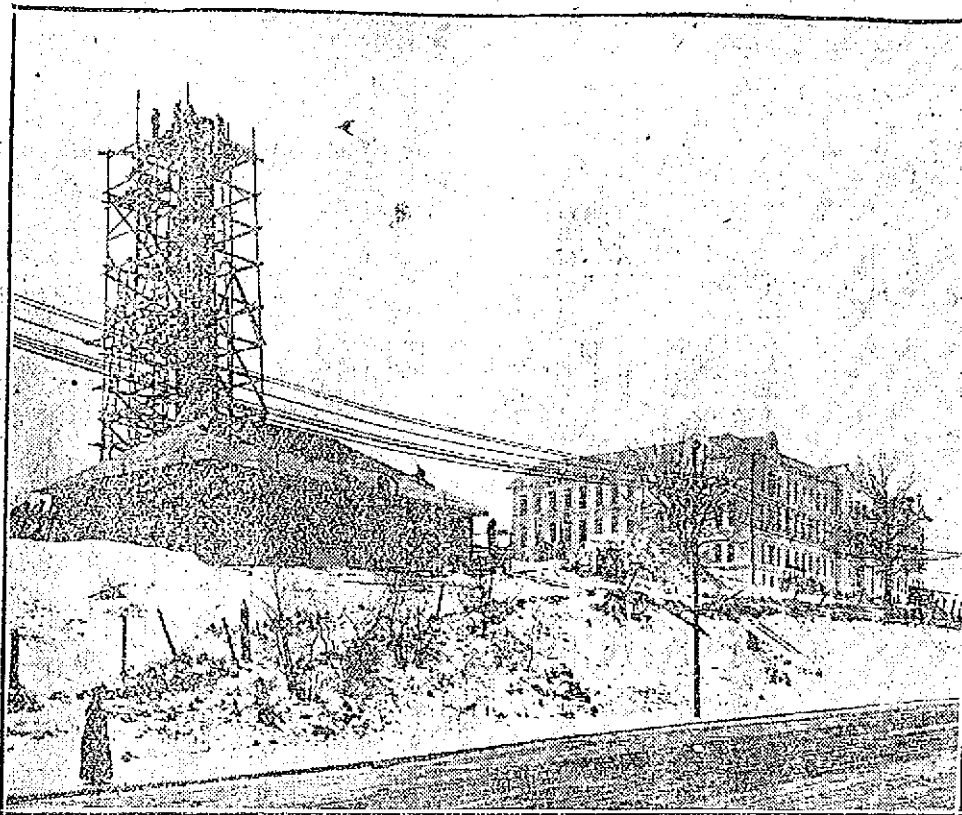

"This tip" led to the rapid rounding up of the gang. The last taken were Viola and Lalla. Sergt. Murphy and Patrolman Lalla lay in wait for them at Piazza's house. The men accepted arrest in a matter that for them was not taking the trouble to find out that the officers were sure of their identity.

Federal officers were delighted to discover yesterday that the two supposed ringleaders had recently been in town, where a supply of bad half dollars much like those found in this city, recently showed up. It is believed they were responsible for these counterfeit coins.

One of their peculiarities, it is said, was not to let the bad coins lie idle on their hands, but to get them into circulation almost before they got cool. Officers say, for instance, that they have proof the money that was passing current in this city Saturday was turned out some time Friday.

Federal officers planned enough of the former lives of the alleged counterfeiters to believe they have had an exciting history, which includes a flight from Italy because the authorities there began to connect them with the extraordinary supply of bad lire in that country.

ST. ELIZABETH'S HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN NEARING CLOSE—LOWELL'S $5000 ALMOST RAISED

VIEW OF ST. ELIZABETH'S HOSPITAL AT ITS PRESENT STAGE OF CONSTRUCTION—THE BIG CHIMNEY IS FOR THE POWER PLANT

As the days of the great campaign now being conducted to raise $500,000 for the new St. Elizabeth's hospital, Brighton, draw to a close, the increases daily, whether in Boston, Lowell, or any other part of the archdiocese grow proportionately larger. In Boston the greatest enthusiasm prevails among the leaders in the movement for it has become apparent that the desired sum will have been raised in its entirety by Wednesday evening when the campaign proper draws to a close. Already $124,000 has been registered at campaign headquarters and this does not include the full reports from outside parishes. During the next three days no stone will be left unturned to collect the remaining $376,000, and the leaders of the movement depend in great measure on the final reports of Lowell, Lawrence, Lynn and the other outside parishes to round out the amount.

Local Campaign

At the headquarters of the local campaign at 2 Kunkel's building it was shown last evening that the Sunday jump in the collection here was the greatest since the campaign started. Although three of the parishes have not yet been heard from and al-

FEAST OF CANDLEMAS

Observed in the Catholic Churches Today—The Feast of Saint Blaise Tomorrow

The celebrant of the high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday was Rev. James J. Kerrigan, while the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, who took his text from the gospel of the day. Rev. Fr. Curtin also made the announcements in the course of which he stated that special services will be held tomorrow morning and evening in honor of St. Blaise at which time the blessing of throats will take place. Masses will be celebrated at the usual time and there will be a high mass at 8 o'clock. In the evening a special service will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

This morning a high mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock as this is candlemas day and the congregation was very large. Candles were blessed and the parishioners were urged to keep them in their homes for use in case of sickness.

The Holy Name society at its last meeting elected officers for the ensuing year with the following result: Timothy Rohan, president; John J. Sullivan, vice president; Owen Reilly, secretary; Edward McCarthy, financial secretary; Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director and chaplain.

On Tuesday evening a meeting will be held at the school hall and all members are requested to be present for important business is forthcoming. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer will be read and plans for the coming year will be arranged.

Immaculate Conception

At the 10 o'clock mass at the Church of the Immaculate Conception yesterday the pastor, Rev. Fr. Lawrence M. Tighe, O. M. I., thanked the people for the generosity of their contributions to the church debt fund last Sunday. He also requested those who had not been reached by the collectors for the St. Elizabeth's hospital fund to send their contribution to Rev. Fr. O'Meara, O. M. I., who is announced that he will be the celebrant of the blessing of the throats tomorrow, Tuesday, the feast of St. Blaise, there will be a special service at 7:30 p. m. to be attended by adults and minors who wish.

The sermon at the 10 o'clock mass was preached by Rev. Fr. Tighe who took for his subject the gospel of the day or the calling of the sons and the tempter by Jesus Christ. He drew a comparison between the life of man and the voyage in the boat mentioned in the scriptures, and said that through all storms and perils men on the side of God need not fear and that we have Christ at our command if we keep him with us by divine grace. The sermon at 8 o'clock was preached by Rev. Fr. John P. Reynolds, O. M. I., who is on a brief visit to the Immaculate Conception rectory. Fr. Reynolds preached with his usual eloquence on the divine gift of faith and how it should be cherished by members of the Catholic church.

St. Mary's
Rev. Thomas A. Walsh, pastor of St. Mary's church, conducted at both masses yesterday morning and also addressed his flock, giving instructions on the meaning of the feast of Candlemas, dwelling particularly on the virtues of the Blessed Virgin, as the feast means the purification of the virgin. He also made a strong appeal for the St. Elizabeth's hospital fund and for the day was covered by the following contributions had been received from residents of the parish: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Seefeld, $100 for equipping a room; Rev. Thomas A. Walsh, $50; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Whelan, $25; J. H. Cunningham, $10; a friend, $1; John Callery, 50 cents.

At 8 o'clock this morning a mass was celebrated in honor of the feast of Candlemas and preceding the service the blessing of candles took place. At the close of the mass the candles were distributed to the entire congregation. Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the blessing of throats will take place and a special service of the same nature will be held in the evening at 7 o'clock.

Sacred Heart Church
Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., preached an eloquent sermon at the Sacred Heart church yesterday on the obligation of paying homage to God. "One fitting way to do this," said the speaker, "is by regular attendance at mass on Sunday." To assist at the holy sacrifice of the mass is to comply with God's commandment. "Remember, thou keep holy the Sabbath day." The prefixing of the word "remember" God showed the importance of carrying out this commandment. The attendance at mass, not only benefits the participant, but shows a good example to others, said the speaker.

The high mass was celebrated by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., and an excellent musical program was rendered by the choir under the direction of John J. Kelly.

Yesterday afternoon the Holy Rosary sodality held its regular monthly meeting and elected officers for the ensuing year. The results were as follows: President, Mrs. Dennis Doherty; vice president, Mrs. Dennis Doherty; treasurer, Mrs. Hans Backle; secretary, Mrs. James P. Garrity, and spiritual director, Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I. Fr. Fletcher took occasion to thank the retiring officers for their great work during the past year. He was particularly grateful to Mrs. Thomas Farrell, the former president. He said that through Mrs. Farrell's untiring efforts the sodality had one of its most successful years. She worked zealously for the society and church and her administration calls for words of praise from all. said the speaker. The members then gave a fitting vote of thanks to the former officers. A committee was appointed to take charge of the annual social of the sodality, which will be held in the school hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 12. An entertainment program will be given, followed by dancing, and refreshments will be served.

Notre Dame de Lourdes
The high mass at Notre Dame de Lourdes church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. J. R. A. Barette, O. M. I., while the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph Maguan, O. M. I., who took his text from the gospel of the day. The pastor, Rev. Leon Lamothe, O. M. I., who made the announcements, also announced that a collection was being taken up at all the masses for the St. Elizabeth's hospital fund, and the report of the said collection is very flattering for the parishes that gave substantial sum.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the Zouaves, a semi-military organization composed of boys and men, met at the church, held a meeting in the parochial school and were given instructions by their military instructor, Rev. J. R. A. Barette, O. M. I., who also told them that weekly drills will hereafter be held.

Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan celebrated high mass yesterday at St. Peter's and Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher spoke briefly of the gospel of the day. Referring to the campaign for St. Elizabeth's hospital fund, Rev. Dr. Keleher said it was a most laudable and noble work. In the daily life of a priest he said much in misery and misfortune caused by illness comes to one's notice and the establishment of such an institution on the large scale proposed will be a step forward in a truly humane work.

Today, Candlemas day, candles were blessed after the last mass and there was a very large attendance. Tomorrow the feast of St. Blaise, blessing of the throats will take place in the morning after the 7 o'clock mass, in the afternoon at 4 o'clock for the school children and again in the evening at 7:30 o'clock for the adults. Rev. Dr. Keleher emphasized at the mass that no children would be allowed in the evening and hence the arrangements for them in the afternoon.

The various committees are working energetically on the plans for the parish festival on Feb. 17 and it is expected to be one of those old time successes.

Such satisfaction is felt among the members of the Holy Name society at the knowers that have come to two of its members from the Federation of Catholic societies. Ex-President Riehl and Lyons was elected vice president and Bernard H. Ward, secretary. Mr. Ward has served St. Peter's society as secretary for many years with singular efficiency and as secretary of the Federation he will be a success.

St. Margaret's
Collections were taken up at all the masses at St. Margaret's church yesterday for the St. Elizabeth's hospital fund and $200 was raised. Later this contribution was sent to Boston.

The parish mass was celebrated by Rev. H. C. Rowland and instructions were given relative to the feast of Candlemas and St. Blaise.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock the young folks who are in charge of the junior party which will be held at Lincoln hall Friday evening for the benefit of the parish, held a preliminary rehearsal at the hall and also concluded all arrangements for the event.

This morning previous to the 7:30 o'clock mass candles were blessed and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock the blessing of throats will take place. A vesper from tomorrow a novena in honor of St. Rita will be started at the church. The novena will be for the entire congregation and further announcements as to arrangements will be given out in church next Sunday.

LONDON AND PARIS DESCRIBED

Rev. Sarah A. Dixon Gives Her Impressions of Both Cities

Conduct in the German Beer Gardens She Considers Vulgar

Rev. Sarah A. Dixon, D. D., spoke at High Street Baptist church Sunday night and gave her impressions of European conditions in Europe as gathered from a casual survey of a few of the clubs and towns.

When she walked up to London on a Sunday morning she said, one accidental to Berlin is perfectly at home.

The atmosphere is precisely the same, speaking from a religious point of view. The only difference is that London has on the Sabbath day, speaking generally, in Hyde Park, no religious observance of anything turns practically aside out.

In Paris, on the contrary, the shops are open and shops are hanging their goods on the sidewalks. By the time you have reached the cathedral you have left your religious feeling and your mind is on the things that keep you in the city of the place that you enter for worship. Paris for the rest of the day is at play. She is gentle, sweet and tender, luxurious, happy and joyful and glad and nothing on a Sunday. There is nothing religious, no appearance of anything that would offend the taste. She is simply having a good time with life, playing with it as a kitten plays with a ball. You feel that life will be her no harm, simply because she has such a good time with it.

Speaking of the beer gardens of London and the cafes of Paris, she said that in England the people drink in Paris is she zip.

Immunity with Paris is never brutal, never vulgar, she does not drag it out by the hair into the streets, that all may see it. It is immorality is subtle, refined, cultured and one can only detect it by intuition. Paris is not flippant, careless, indifferent. She is rather intensely color or soberly intoxicated—whatever you please. Our old New England conscience forces us to desire to have her and yet some where, back in the regions of hearts and minds and judgment, we have a notion that she is supremely right in many things.

Dr. Dixon's impressions of Southern Germany—she did not visit the north of Germany—were very different on a Sunday. The beer gardens were crowded and one lingered for Paris, and the cafes where the people sit and sip red wine.

Sect. H. W. Gibson to Y. M. C. A.

H. W. Gibson, state secretary for boys' work of the Y. M. C. A. in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, addressed an audience composed of young men at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, and gave a very unique and interesting talk. In which he likened many a shadow to his character and influence and personality. His subject was "The Man Who Lost His Shadow" and he said he drew his inspiration from a book where the story was told of how a man sold his shadow and what came of it, and how it was lost and how it was found.

Character, he described as the unseen development of something within you that makes you want to go to the world the best there is in it. Character is the power you have and has its effect on others. You can't keep a shadow and you can't buy a character, though you may have the body. Education and character form a sort of shadow and character and influence come to you by association with others. The best character is the wrong to preserve his character his character and influence. The man who makes the wrong kind of character loses his influence.

Mr. Gibson is well known in Lowell as a speaker and he held the attention of the audience well when he discussed the "shadow."

LOWELL CAR LOOPS LOOP

LEAPED FROM TRACKS, TURNED COMPLETELY AROUND IN THE AIR AND STRUCK WOMAN

A heavy Lowell electric car, hopped from the tracks at Massachusetts avenue and Bedford street, Lexington, yesterday morning, turned completely around in the air and knocked down Mrs. Anna Munroe of Lowell street, East Lexington.

Mrs. Munroe received a serious fracture of one shoulder and numerous body bruises, and was taken to her home in the automobile of Dr. J. Olin Tilton.

The car, in charge of Motorman Warren Pierce and Conductor Bernard Seemelt, with no passengers, and was proceeding down Bedford street at a rapid rate. Miss Munroe was returning from a church service, ran into the street in an attempt to catch the car, which suddenly left the tracks, reversed ends and struck down the woman.

DEMAND TROOPS LEAVE Citizens Committee at Port Au Prince Say There is No Necessity for Foreign Troops

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 2.—A demand for the withdrawal from the Haitian capital of the German and American bluejackets and marines has been presented to the members of the foreign diplomatic corps by the citizens committee of public safety. This body, which was formed immediately after the flight of President Oreste, points out that perfect tranquility has prevailed for some time in the capital and still continues, and that, therefore, there is no necessity for the presence here of foreign troops.

The port authorities forbade the landing of a party of 16 prominent exiles who arrived here yesterday on board the German steamer Sardinia.

Among them were Gen. Hecleto Morplais, former minister of war and H. Paulus Sanson, former Haitian minister at Washington. The Sardinia later left for Jamaica with the exiles still on board. Reports from the south indicate serious disturbances there. Firing squads of government troops have executed a number of leading revolutionaries at the ports of Aux Cayes and Aquin, including M. Lavieus, a former deputy.

Gen. Darigues, military governor of the southern province, is suppressing with a strong hand all attempts at a revolutionary outbreak.

ITCHED FOR 20 YEARS, RESINOL CURED IN 10 DAYS

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 19, 1914.—"About twenty years ago both my legs began to itch from ankle to knee. Large pimples came out. The itching and burning was something terrible. I would start to scratch and could not stop. I would even scratch through the skin and that of course would leave a sore which I was compelled to bandage."

"I tried several prescriptions and treatments, but received not a particle of benefit—no more than if the treatments were cold water. I then began to have very little faith in anything and of course could do nothing but scratch away."

"After suffering constantly for twenty years, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. From the very first application, I found relief, and was entirely cured in ten days. The itching and stinging sensations have ceased and my skin is as smooth as a child's." (Signed) Charles Warner, 123 N. Stricker St.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for eighteen years and every druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c) and Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00). Don't be deceived by the useless "substitutes" which a few unscrupulous dealers offer. For free trial, write to Dept. 37-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

Nervous people who have not yet developed a disease that can be recognized and treated by the medical profession have the greatest trouble in finding relief. Irritation, headache, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, and these discomforts make life miserable but are endured rather than run a doctor's bill without definite hope of recovery.

Every such sufferer should know the danger of such a condition of the nervous system. Nervous debility and even paralysis may easily result if the tone of the nerves is not restored.

The one big fact that brings hope and relief is that the nerves can be restored by building up the blood. It cannot be too often repeated that only through the blood can nourishment and medicine reach the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and quickly restore vitality and energy to a weak nervous system.

A nervous person who gives these pills a trial is almost certain to see good results and, what is more, the benefit will be lasting because the trouble is attacked at its root. This blood makes weak nerves. Building up the blood restores the nerve force.

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy of "Diseases of the Nervous System."

MATHEW T. I. MET

Interesting Meeting by Temperance Boys Yesterday Forenoon

The members of the Mathew Temperance Institute held a largely attended meeting at their hall in Central street yesterday forenoon when considerable business was transacted, and the large attendance showed that the old Mathew spirit is being revived in this city. The meeting was presided over by President William H. Carey, and three new members were admitted, while eight propositions for membership were received.

The hall committee reported that the following have been appointed to look after the speakers as well as the musical program: William H. Carey, Andrew J. Welch, Thomas Durkin, John J. McCusker and James F. Rourke. A banquet will precede the hall and several prominent speakers will address the gathering. The next meeting of the hall committee is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 10. Great interest is being shown in this affair, and the committee hopes to have an attendance of 500 present at this event.

The committee in charge of the reception of the tented St. Charles C. T. A. of Woburn reported that in response to the request of the Woburn society the affair had been postponed to the evening of Feb. 12.

The chairman of the membership committee, Patrick J. Nestor, reported that five teams consisting of five members each, will enter the membership contest.

The following committee was appointed to arrange a series of concerts on Sunday: "Merrons": Andrew J. Welch, chairman; John J. McCusker, James Armstrong, James J. Sloan, Edward Harris, John J. Sullivan and William H. Carey. The first one was held yesterday afternoon. The following program was greatly enjoyed by the 125 attending: Opening remarks, President W. H. Carey; selection by Healey's orchestra; song, "Get Out and Get Under the Automobile"; George Rogers; piano solo, Mr. John Ball; song, "A Little Bit of Green"; Marian Nolan; address, Edward F. Slattery; selection, Healey's orchestra; song, "Then I'll Stop Loving You"; Miss Jennie Wyman; song, "Little Girl of My Dreams"; Lawrence Dalany; song, "Hill a Doodle"; song, "Hill a Doodle"; William Carr; song, "When Sweet Marie Was Sweet Sixteen"; Paul Coleman; "The Old Oaken Bucket"; by the entire gathering, under the direction of George Rogers; selection, Healey's orchestra.

Another pool table is being installed in the already well appointed quarters of the society, and the enthusiasm that now prevails at the club is a sure sign of a large increase in membership.

THE TAX COMMISSIONER'S

Letter to Commissioner Brown Relative to the Request for In- vestigation of Assessors' Dept.

George H. Brown, commissioner of finance, has received the following letter from the tax commissioner:

Boston, Jan. 30, 1914.
Alderman George H. Brown, Commissioner of Finance, City Hall, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:
The city clerk of your city has forwarded to the tax commissioner a copy of a motion passed by the municipal council of Lowell under date of the 21st inst. IN CHARGE AT HAYTI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—President Oreste of Haiti abdicated and left the country without a government. Marines from the United States cruiser
Montana were landed at Port au
Prince to protect American interests.
Marines also have been landed from a German cruiser stationed at Port au Prince. This condition of affairs imposes upon the administration another embarrassing problem in the relations of this government with the Caribbean countries. Under the declaration of policy made by President Wilson he will be unable to recognize any revolutionary government set up in Haiti as the result of this uprising. Rear-Admiral Badger reported that he had dispatched the battleship South Carocommand of the South Carolina, will assume command of the American ves-his discretion to protect American lives.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL MET

Got Offer of Carney Land—Re- monstrance on Hospital Site— Conference With Legislators

The municipal council held a brief meeting Saturday and then went into conference with the senators and representatives from Lowell relative to legislation in which Lowell is interested.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 3:35 with all members present.
The petition of Thomas J. Noyes for appointment as constable was confirmed, Ald. Carmichael voting against.

Right of Way
The mayor read a communication from Eugene T. Shaw, giving the city a right of way to the Ward land given by Mrs. Dever for a contagious hospital site. The communication was received and placed on file.

The Carney Offer
The communication from Mrs. Carney offering acres of land for park and playground purposes in connection with the proposed contagious hospital was read and placed on file.

Gen. Hospital Protest
The communication from the trustees of the Lowell General hospital and Mr.
F. E. Ayer's protest against the erection of a contagious hospital on the Ward land were read by the mayor and the same were received and placed on file.

Conference With Legislators
This completed the business of the meeting and the council then went into conference with the representatives and senators from Lowell relative to legislation having to do with legislation affecting the city of Lowell.

At the conference Mayor Murphy read a letter from Mayor George W. Wright of Worcester, urging Mayor Murphy to impress upon the local representatives the necessity of keeping down on state expenditures.

"The thing that we are vitally interested in," said Mayor Murphy, "is the loan for which we are asking, and proposition to renew and refund the temporary loan," and called upon City Solicitor Hennessy to explain the situation, stating that the city solicitor was familiar with it from its inception.
Mr. Hennessy dealt with the new law passed by the legislature, providing for the collection of taxes in the year in which they are due.

He called attention to the fact that the city was not seeking to borrow but to have notes renewed and refunded until such time as they can be taken care of by the taxes collected under the new law. He said that the note coming due in June could not be paid unless taxpayers were called upon to pay their taxes up to date and that, he said, would work a hardship.

The senators and representatives present at the meeting were: Senators Edward Fisher and Henry J.
Francis, Jewett, Henry Achin, Jr.,
John J. Gilbride, Fred O. Lewis,
Dennis A. Murphy and John R. Kilgins. County Commissioner Ereson
Barlow was also present.

The city solicitor, explaining the situation, spoke as follows: "There is some misapprehension in certain quarters as to the purpose for which the money is to be obtained, if this temporary loan bill passes the legislature.
By the terms of this bill the city of Lowell will not be permitted to use one dollar. We ask to obtain refunding and renewal of the notes described as 'temporary loan notes,' and which must fall due on June 30, next. In the past, cities and towns have been allowed to make temporary loans in anticipation of taxes for one-year terms.

Pledged against these loans were the taxes of a particular year.

"For 17 years we have been going on here creating a permanent debt from this so-called 'temporary loan.'
We have never been able to gather in the outstanding taxes. When the notes fell due, we did not have the assets, and many times they were not applied to the payment of the notes.

"If you have any knowledge of this city's finances, you know that notes aggregating $500,000 fall due on June 30, next. The legislature of 1913 passed a law compelling cities and towns to gather in the taxes within one year after which they are due. The old habit the legislature has seen grow into a very general custom everywhere.
We don't want to spend one dollar of this $500,000. We want to renew the notes, to renew $400,000 for five years, and $100,000 for two years, that money to be paid at any time within the five years. This renewal gathers in no money for us to use. When the new bonds are retired they will be retired out of the taxes of 1912 and 1913. And these taxes shall not be applied to anything else.

"Concerning the $100,000 renewal section of this bill, I want to say that we borrow that for a period not exceeding two years. That refunding note will be paid out of the taxes of 1912 and 1913. The city will have about $50,000 outstanding in taxes.
Now, if you assist in the passage of this bill, we will not have outstanding notes of over a million dollars.

"It would be practically impossible to attempt to pay off this entire $500,000 debt when it falls due on the 30th of June. If people paid up all of their taxes right away, it might be done. In theory we can say 'pay you taxes,' but this custom of allowing men to go a certain length of time before paying taxes has grown almost to have the weight of a law. To demand that men pay up every cent of the taxes assessed for 1912 and 1913 before June 30, would entail a real hardship on many; some would have to mortgage what property they own in order to do so."

Mr. Jewett wanted to know if the government contemplated going to the legislature to borrow outside of the debt limit for an industrial school.

Mayor Murphy and Commissioner
Carmichael said they would not ask for it this year.

The conference concluded at 5:45.

SPLENDID $2,000,000 LINCOLN MEMORIAL ASSURED

Photos by American Press Association.

1.—View of Washington monument from Lincoln memorial. 2.—Statue of Lincoln in memorial. 3.—Lincoln memorial as it will look when completed. 4.—Abraham Lincoln. 5.—Where tablet will be placed.

By JOHN J. GREEN.

AFTER the movement had been halted for years by a controversy as to the form it should take and as to its location the memorial to Abraham Lincoln is now fairly started toward completion and the work is sure to attract hundreds of visitors to the national capital. The first contract calls for an expenditure of $1,500,000; the statue itself not less than $200,000. It is the expressed wish of congress that the total cost of the memorial shall be kept within $2,000,000.

Standing near the Potomac river, the memorial will have a relation with the Washington monument and the capitol that would be impossible on any other site, and it will have a close relation with Arlington cemetery, where men who fought for the Union are buried. On a great axis, planned more than a century ago, there will be at one end the capitol, which, as the commission points out, is the monument of the government, and to the west, more than a mile distant from the capitol, will stand for all time the monument to Washington, one of the founders of the government. Then the Lincoln memorial.

The commission, of which former President Taft was the chairman, had a strenuous time making the final selection of a site. In the end it had to decide whether the memorial should take the form of an arch on Meridian hill, in the northern part of the national capital; a monument at Fort Stephens, five miles north of the city of Washington, where President Lincoln was under fire during the raid of General Early in July, 1861; a memorial bridge, connecting Potomac park with Arlington; a road from the national capitol to Gettysburg or a memorial of pantheon form in Potomac park. The final decision of the commission was unanimously in favor of the Potomac park plan.

The Lincoln memorial will be built on the axis still farther to the west of the Washington monument by the shore of the Potomac, and, as President Taft said to the commission, "We will there have the monument of the man who saved the government, thus completing an unparalleled composition which cannot fail to impart to each of its monuments a value in addition to that which each standing alone would not possess."

Four Features of Memorial.

Four features will stand out prominently in the memorial—a statue of the man, a memorial of his Gettysburg speech, a memorial of his second inaugural address and a symbol of the union of the United States, which he said it was his paramount object to save, and which he did save. It is proposed that each feature shall be related to the others by means of its design and position and that each shall be so arranged that it will become an integral part of the whole in order to attain a unity and simplicity in the appearance of the monument.

The statue of Lincoln will be made the most important object in the memorial. It will be placed in the center and this part of the memorial where the statue is placed will not be occupied by any other object that would detract from its effectiveness. The visitor to the memorial will see only the statue here.

The smaller halls at each side of the central space will each contain a memorial—one of the second inaugural address and the other of the Gettysburg address. These speeches will be shown by bronze letters arranged on a monumental tablet, and adjacent low reliefs or decorations will relate in allegory Lincoln's great qualities as evident in those speeches. While it will be possible to see these memorials from any part of the hall, they will be partly screened from the central part where the statue is placed by a row of Ionic columns, thus giving a certain isolation to the space they occupy.

Surrounding the walls inclosing these memorials is planned a colonnade forming a symbol of the Union, each column representing a state, as the Union existed at the time of Lincoln's death. There will be thirty-six of these columns. On the walls appearing above the colonnade and supported at intervals by eagles will be forty-eight memorial festoons, one for each state existing at the present time.

Made of Colorado Marble.

The memorial is to be constructed of Colorado marble. By means of terraces the ground at the site of the memorial will be raised until the floor of the memorial itself will be forty-five feet higher than the present grade. In the center of the plateau constructed, surrounded by a wide roadway and walks, will rise an eminence supporting a rectangular stone terrace wall 14 feet high, 256 feet long and 156 feet wide. On the rectangular terrace will rise the marble memorial.

The colonnade will be 183 feet. The outside of the memorial hall will be 56 feet wide and 156 feet long.

The colonnade entrance to the memorial hall, which will be 45 feet wide and 44 feet high, will be equipped with sliding bronze grilles filled with plate glass. These grilles during the day will be rolled back into the space provided in the walls and will be closed at night for the protection of the memorial. The central hall where the statue will stand will be 60 feet wide, 70 feet long and 60 feet high. The halls where the memorials of the speeches will be placed will be 37 feet wide, 57 feet long and 60 feet high. The interior Ionic columns will be 60 feet high.

The memorial will be several years in building. The commission has not as yet given serious thought to the statue beyond a decision that it shall be sculptured in marble.

Henry Bacon, a New York architect, was selected by the fine arts commission to design the Lincoln memorial.

Mr. Bacon has designed the greater part of the memorials to famous Americans in the country and has worked with St. Gaudens, Niehaus and other famous American sculptors. He designed the Charles Stewart Parnell monument in Dublin with Augustus St. Gaudens, who made the statue; the Governor Flower monument or memorial in Watertown, N. Y., with St. Gaudens; the Wolcott monument in Boston with Daniel C. French, the sculptor; the Benjamin Harrison monument in Indianapolis with C. J. Niehaus; the Hanna monument in Cleveland with St. Gaudens; the Melvin monument with Daniel C. French in Concord, Mass.; the Ogletree monument in Savannah, Ga., with French; the Samuel Speers monument in Atlanta, Ga., with French; the Carl Schurz monument with Karl Bitter in Morningside park at One Hundred and Sixteenth street; the memorial to Vice President Hubert in Patterson, N. J.; the Christopher McGee memorial in Pittsburgh with St. Gaudens, and the Marshall Field memorial in Chicago with French.

Certain refinements incorporated into the scheme of the Lincoln memorial carry one back to the architectural perfection of the golden age of Greece, when not the smallest detail was allowed to escape the artist's critical attention. The columns are made to vary from the perfect vertical by being slightly tilted in toward the building, the four corner columns being tilted more than the others. The plans also specify that the outer face of the entablature be inclined inward, though a little less than the axis of the columns below, while the wall of the memorial hall itself is to bend inward least of all. Though these inclinations will be imperceptible to the eye, it is believed that they will insure to the building an appearance of great stability and strength.

The entrance to the memorial hall will be fitted with sliding bronze grilles filled with plate glass which may be kept closed at night and during cold weather. Provision is made for a vestibule at the bottom. In warm weather the grilles will in the day time be rolled back into spaces provided for the purpose.

The ceiling of the interior memorial hall is to be supported by massive bronze beams, gilded, colored and lacquered. Light may be introduced through the ceiling if it is found to be to the best advantage. One of the great points in favor of the idea of having the statue indoors is that there the light may be adjusted so as to set it off in the best manner. This is impossible with a statue situated in an open court or city square.

CELEBRATE TILDEN'S CENTENARY

LEADING Democrats of the country made elaborate preparations to celebrate on February 9, 1914, the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Samuel Jones Tilden. The Tilden memorial commission, of which Herman Hilder is president, Ralph Pulitzer vice president and Albert H. Henschel secretary, planned to place a wreath on the statesman's grave at New Lebanon, N. Y., on the Sunday preceding the anniversary, and on Tuesday evening, February 10, to hold a memorial meeting in Carnegie hall, New York. Appropriate ceremonies were arranged for in many other cities of the Union.

It is not often that a man attains political leadership through sheer intellectual ability unassociated with personal magnetism. At eighteen Tilden wrote a political paper which Van Buren, then the power in Democratic politics in New York, ordered printed as an official party appeal. It had an important part in the next Democratic victory in the state. At twenty-three Tilden was writing on national questions in a way that created a profound impression. He was admitted to the bar in 1841, but his clients were few, so he became the editor of a new political paper. After Polk's election to the presidency Tilden resumed the practice of law and was elected to the assembly, where he took a prominent part.

Several law cases of an unusual nature gave Tilden an opportunity to display his mental qualities. Thus he attracted national attention and created an interest in himself such as his learned theses on the banking system could not elicit. His methods were skillful, ingenious, novel. His success in handling a suit against a canal company gave him a big corporation business, railroads being his specialty. His most notable legal work, which was in part detective work as well, was his exposure of the Tweed ring.

When the struggle with Tweed closed with the overthrow of the ring and Tweed's imprisonment Tilden entered the assembly and helped enact laws to prevent a repetition of such a reign of loot. He became governor in 1874. He gained a nationwide reputation for reform and built up a great political organization. He was master of his party in the greatest state in the Union, so he easily secured the presidential nomination in 1876.

Rutherford B. Hayes was his opponent. The Republican party had been long expected to carry the south. When the election returns came in from South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana they claimed by the Republicans. A contest ensued in the three states. Ex-

There was fear of an uprising and civil war. President Grant ordered Sherman to have the army in readiness. The canvassing boards decided the contests in favor of Hayes, giving him 185 electoral votes to 134 for Tilden.

The time approached for congress to count the electoral votes in joint session. Under the law "no electoral vote objected to shall be counted, except by the concurrent vote of the two houses." The senate was Republican, the house by a vote of 8 to 7, the members dividing on strict party lines, the decision was given to Hayes.

In those strenuous days the resentment of the Democrats was quieted in a measure by the production of dispatches in cipher showing that some of Tilden's friends had endeavored to bribe returning boards and individual electors in states where contests occurred. Tilden appeared before the investigating committee and took oath that he knew nothing of any of the Democratic. Either branch could prevent the counting of an electoral vote. They compromised and created an electoral commission whose decision should be final—five members of the house, five members of the senate and five supreme court judges. There were seven from each party, and Judge David Davis, who was rated as an independent, was to be the fifth. But at this juncture he was elected senator from Illinois and declined to serve on the commission. A Republican judge made the fifteenth. After a very telegrams and that when he learned of certain negotiations in South Carolina he stopped them.

Tilden now passed out of public life. His position was practically the same as that of an ex-president. Now and then his party asked some opinion of the " Sage of Gramercy park," but it soon began to speak of him deferentially in the past tense. Some were disappointed because he had not shown himself more combative, had yielded so readily in the face of seeming injustice. He had not fought as

When he died, in 1883, he left a fortune of $5,000,000 to be devoted to public uses. Great lawyer though he was, the lawyers upset the will, and the larger part of his estate went to collateral heirs. He had never married.

Tilden never held a federal office. He was never a representative or a senator or a cabinet officer, yet it may be doubted if any man since Lincoln exerted so great an influence upon national affairs. He was characterized as "the great American reformer." His successful fight against the Tweed ring was the beginning of the great movement to throw off the shackles of political corruption which the civil war riveted upon the country. His successful fight against the canal ring gave a new impetus to political reform in nearly every northern state. It was under his leadership that the Democratic party was politically rehabilitated, and the political rehabilitation of the Democratic party compelled a moral rehabilitation of the Republican party.

It is possible that historians will always divide on the question whether or not Tilden was tragically deprived of the presidency; but there cannot be two opinions as to the great patriotism which he exhibited during the tremendous conflict which brought the country almost to the edge of another civil war.

UNCLE SAM'S SERVANTS

New Bedford Times: In a government office, bureau, printing shop or mint the employees are in a way his own house. His pay, or at least a portion of it, comes from himself and the millions of other workmen of this country and there is no big dividend going to the manufacturer. Such a condition, it could seem, must meet the conditions for which the trade union was organized.

It is the workingman who is largely responsible for the cry that is being raised for government owned and operated railroad, telephone, telegraph and other service lines. Considerable government ownership of these lines claim that the workingman and public will both profit by the change.

If this is true, then why the need of unthinking the man who works for Uncle Sam and is paid by the people? It would seem as though the time and effort required for organization might be spent in other lines to better advantage.

VILLA OF MEXICO

Worcester Post: General Villa's disclaimer of any intention to become president of Mexico and his declaration in the interview given out yesterday that he will loyally support Carranza and the constitutional cause, is time indeed, just now. For the remarkable ability he has shown as a military man among the real friends of Mexico, let him repeat the role so frequent in his past of successful soldier. Really, the spirit he has at least professed and which is that of the enterprising and the rebel movement, and all the disorder, cruelty and banditism that it also includes, is the one that contains the only hope for the future of that distracted land.

A LA LIBERTY TEST

Providence Tribune: That immigrants are keenly interested in schooling for their children, or at least conspicuously obedient to school attendance laws, is the declaration of Dr. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. "The least intelligent of our population are the native born children of foreign parents," says Dr. Claxton in a bulletin on education for immigrants just issued. "The literacy among the children of native born parents is three times as great as that among native born children of foreign parents."

REFORMATORIES

Lyons Telegram: The penal institutions of the state have come in for much criticism recently and perhaps it has been deserved. The latest to be attacked is the reformatory at Concord and the attack comes from one of the state inmates who declared in court that he had been about eight years in that place. He pleaded with the court which was to sentence him for nine months not to send him back to Concord as it was the place in which he was schooled for his career of crime.

THE BUILDING CODE

Manchester Union: At a time when there is agitation and discussion over the building code and modifications of it, the Amoskeag bank building stands as an impressive lesson to every citizen. There it stands, intact and unharmed, between the smoking ruins of a pride of other days and the more modern buildings to the northward which would have been contributed to change an ordinary building into the prop of a swarming conflagration. The vindication of the Amoskeag bank building as a lesson in safe construction is sure to come some time. It had stood longer than was to have been expected.

NEWS OF LEGISLATURE

NEARLY 100 BILLS AFFECTING THE CIVIL SERVICE INTRODUCED—BILLS CONCERNING LOWELL

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Nearly 100 bills affecting the civil service in one way or another have been introduced into the present legislature and referred to the committee on public service. No such number of civil service bills has been sent to any legislature in a decade. Hearings on them will cover several weeks.

Interest in the house and senate will come principally with proposed additions to the classified list, particularly in behalf of the county employees.

"The net result of this unprecedented quantity of legislation affecting the civil service will be an extension of the classified list beyond all previous year's limits," said Secretary Arthur H. Brooks of Massachusetts civil service association yesterday.

The civil service commission is urging bills: Giving of preference to American citizens; to establish experimental yards or stations for testing appointments; in addition to written tests; establishing salary grades for clerks and stenographers employed by the state; to include county employees in the classified list; proposed, it was stated yesterday, because of protests against so-called "county rings."

The attitude of the Massachusetts Civil Service association toward the 1914 crop of bills to extend the civil service classified class, was yesterday defined by Secretary Brooks, as due to the fact that the persons in public employ are beginning to realize the many advantages they will gain if their positions are classified and protected from hostile political action.

"The legislature in the past," he said, "has often thrown out these bills because by passing them they inevitably gave more fixed and perhaps permanent tenure to the unclassified office-holding class. In other words they will cover them in without examination."

"The history of this subject shows that practically all the extensions of the law to new positions have been made with this result, and yet the objection urged has not in the long run proved objectionable, for new appointments are made subject to the law."

Foremost among bills of a special character is that which proposes that certain credits in civil service examinations, sponsored by Representative Hurley of Marlboro and suggested by ex-representative John J. Murphy of South Boston. This bill is to be made around the provision by which 5 per cent. shall be added to the marks of Spanish war veterans who may be examined.

"This year," said Secretary Brooks, "as in other years, the Massachusetts Civil Service association has unalterably opposed preferential legislation in the civil service, and it proposes to make a little stir right then and there against the Spanish war veterans' act."

"The Spanish war was hardly over before its veterans sought preference."

Some symptoms of worms are: Debauched stomach, swollen upper lip, sour tongue, excessive breath, hard and full belly, with occasional griping and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the rectum, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, loss of sleep.

Parish Totals

The totals for the various parishes that have reported to date are as follows: St. Margaret's, $200; Immaculate Conception, $150.25; Sacred Heart, $451.55; St. Peter's, $371.10; St. Patrick's, $670; St. Michael's, $548.35; St. Columba's, $150; St. Louis, $127.55; Notre Dame de Lourdes, $65. The parishes as yet unreported from are: St. Jean Baptiste, Holy Trinity (Polish) and St. Joseph's (Lithuanian).

The amount of the local collection to date is $2816.30. At last night's meeting it was reported that St. Margaret's was the first church to reach its allotment, and St. Patrick's and St. Peter's are not far behind. By this evening it is expected that most of the parishes if not all will have turned in the expected amounts.

Those who have not been reached by the collectors are requested to get in touch with the priest in charge of the work in each parish, as it is probable that many who would gladly contribute may be overlooked in the general collection. The priests looking after the collection in the respective parishes are: St. Patrick's, Rev. Joseph A. Curran; St. Peter's, Rev. D. J. Heffernan; Immaculate Conception, Rev. Owen McQuaid; O. M. L. St. Michael's, Rev. Dennis F. Murphy; Sacred Heart, Rev. James T. McDermott; O. M. L. St. Margaret's, Rev. Henry Leonard; St. Columba's, Rev. John Deegan; St. Louis, Rev. The Hospital

Architecturally, the new St. Elizabeth's hospital will be one of the finest in New England. The monastic style has been followed in design and construction. The exterior walls of the building are of brick, over which has been plastered white cement. The roof is red tiled. The central building is a parallel Cambridge street and has a frontage of 225 feet. There is a wing extending to the south at either end of the main building, and in this way a court is formed. It is the plan of the authorities, in the future extension and development of the hospital, to erect a wing at the end of each of these wings, thus forming a most picturesque appearance to the structure, as well as providing suites to be extensively fitted up for operation purposes. From the towers there will extend to the south two more wings containing wards, and the extended wings will be completed by a building parallel to the main building and consist of a beautiful chapel in the center with one side to be used as a home for the nurses and the other for the Sisters.

HOSPITAL SITE FOR "NOTHING"

Some wise citizens with an abnormally developed sense of civic consciousness have solved the contagious hospital question to their entire satisfaction and to the amazement of those of the public who have a good sense of business and property values. These discoverers of the obvious are urging on the municipal council the acceptance by the city of the "gift" in Pawtucketville which would give the city a contagious hospital site "for nothing." As unfortunately the state board, backed by a mandate of the legislature, requires something more than a site it may be well to think twice before we decide that the city ought to accept the Ward land and the other "playground or park" land which is thrown in to make the "gift" especially attractive.

In view of the vigorous protest of Frederick Fanning Ayer, any location of such hospital in the neighborhood of the Lowell General hospital would be injurious, if not disastrous to the latter. As the greatest benefactor of our city, Mr. Ayer is entitled to consideration in the matter. In this case it happens that his request can be granted without in any way affecting the city's best interests. The Ward land is unacceptable for many reasons as a site for a contagious hospital because of its being in a wilderness, so to speak, and without sewerage, water and buildings.

Assuming that there was no obstacle to the acceptance of the Ward land—that there was no Pillsbury site in the controversy—it would even then be ill advised to accept the offer, not only on account of Mr. Ayer's objection, but because of the great expense necessary to grade the land, to construct roads, sidewalks and sewers, to lay water mains, put in a lighting system, and finally to erect suitable buildings. Viewed in comparison with the Pillsbury site an expenditure of $50,000 and a delay of ten years would be required to bring the Ward land into the same class with the Pillsbury estate in point of meeting the real requirements of a site for a contagious hospital. In this light, therefore, the Ward land although offered for nothing would eventually prove far more expensive than the Pillsbury site, the Hope site, or any of the others mentioned as acceptable.

On the other hand, in the Pillsbury site the city has a beautifully developed location with all the advantages of isolation, ample territory, accessibility, good water supply, and scenic beauty. Best of all, there is on this location a large and well appointed residence suitable for the purpose of a home for consumptives, with slight alteration. Consumptive patients require pleasant surroundings and a home atmosphere, both of which are here and all at the very moderate price of $21,000, slightly over the assessed value. If by sheer obstinacy the municipal council adds the cost of a special election to the expense of providing a contagious hospital it will only be increasing the evil it pretends to mitigate.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

It is obvious that in Dracont, Tewksbury and practically all other surrounding towns one of the crying needs is for better fire protection. In the past these places attended to their local needs as best they could with an inadequate service, depending on Lowell to send apparatus and men in case of extraordinary need. The time came when Lowell did not dare to leave any of its territory unprotected and the result was a general agitation of the question of fire protection such as we now see in the contiguous towns. The problem is not merely local, and it was one of the matters discussed at the Trenton convention that gave birth to the new "Trenton idea" community spirit.

A short time ago the need for better fire protection was felt in Newbury, B. I. owing to some particularly disastrous fires in the vicinity. A suggestion of one of the leading papers of Newbury was that the authorities of the contiguous communities should get together and devise some means by which these smaller places would give a proportionately small appropriation yearly to the larger city for adequate fire protection. Either apparatus specially set aside could thus be purchased or some Newbury apparatus could be availed of and manned by members of the Newbury fire department. With the development of the automobile fire apparatus, this scheme could be easily made practicable, but there would be the danger of fires breaking out in two widely separated sections with consequent misunderstanding.

The main objection to any such scheme as this among the smaller communities is of a sentimental nature, for these places do not like to be dependent, and they feel that they are fully able to take care of their own problems. This may be very true, but a disastrous fire destroys such sentimentality easily and shows the need for stronger business relations between the large city and the smaller places surrounding in the matter of fire protection than mere sentimentality. It must be apparent to all unbiased people that no matter how much fires in the surrounding territory are regretted, the city cannot go on forever in readiness to safeguard the interest of its neighbors. Now is the time for the adoption of some scheme which will be advantageous to the towns while being fair to Lowell.

OUR TILLABLE LAND

We may well pause in incredulity at the recently published estimates of the department of agriculture which place the percentage of the tillable land of the United States as low as twenty-seven per cent. These estimates are the result of long and deep investigation, a feature of which was the receiving of letters from thirty-five thousand correspondents in all sections of the country. The government gained its information in an effort to discover how much of the tillable land of America can be used for crops that require the use of the plough, how much for pasturing and fruit raising, and how much can be used for any agricultural purpose. According to the government report, the entire United States excluding the foreign possessions, contains about nineteen hundred million acres of which about sixty per cent., or eleven hundred and forty million acres is accounted tillable, that is, considered capable of being cultivated by means of the plough. This includes lands that may be made tillable by clearing, draining or irrigation.

This percentage of tillable land is extremely low in itself, but when we ascertain that of this only twenty-seven per cent. is cultivated, we can see the need for natural conservation and agricultural development in a national sense. Probably no movement has a more direct result in reducing the cost of living than that which has to do with the cultivation of farms and the raising of food products and the energies of the government are now being directed to this end. By education and legislation all that concerns rural development is being fostered and protected, and with the full national recognition of the danger of dependence on outside aid for our food supplies or part of them, there will be a change for the better. The farmer holds the centre of the stage and daily revelations from the government investigators reveal the need for the national taking up of the slogan: "Back to the land."

A DISTINGUISHED CRITIC

One of the few really distinguished men that have come out in open condemnation of President Wilson's trust-busting plans is Mr. Wickersham, attorney-general under Mr. Taft. Undoubtedly his criticism is sincere and he has demonstrated that the Sherman act had in him a fearless champion while in power. Nevertheless his views lose weight when we remember that after long and bitter litigation, the so-called trust dissolutions under him were merely perfunctory and did nothing beyond getting a nominal compliance with the federal law.

He criticizes particularly the proposed clause to abolish the rule of reason and make the legal definition of what constitutes monopoly more distinct. Undoubtedly his chief objection to this particular clause is that it is supported by the democratic party, and he would discover many virtues in it if urged by Mr. Taft and the republicans generally. This proposal of President Wilson has been advocated by the progressive party, and if Mr. Wickersham looks up the last party platform of the republicans he will find the following:

"The party favors the enactment of legislation supplementary to the existing anti-trust act, which will define as criminal offenses those specific acts which uniformly mark attempts to restrain and monopolize, to the end that all who obey the law may have a guide in their action and that those who aim to violate the law may be more surely be punished."

This is even more specific than the recommendation of President Wilson on the same subject.

By the way: What has become of Harry Shaw, Gen. Huerta, Mrs. Fankhurst, and the hundreds of terrible fellows that were using the poison needle a month ago?

The city can scarcely afford to offend so generous and public spirited a donor as Frederick Fanning Ayer. We have few less like him.

How an epidemic would change the situation!

INSTRUCTION CAR RECORD SCORE

Red Cross Society to Deering off Portland the Winner in High School Railroad Men Rifle Shooting Matches

It is believed that the new car of the Red Cross society of America, which is going over the entire country, will be in this city shortly and when the car arrives safely and first aid courses of instruction will be given to employees and officials of the railroad here by Dr. Shields and his staff of assistants who are in charge of the car. It has already been in many cities of the state and committees representing the different divisions of the road have been appointed to study precautionary measures for the safety of transportation and to arrange a system of instruction for the employees of the road in first aid to the injured. The operation of the road with the Red Cross National association indicates the desire of the railroad officials to accomplish all in their power to eliminate unsafe railroad. The system of furnishing the employees of the road with a course of instruction in this branch of public safety methods and administering aid to the injured has been tested on other railroad systems and found to be highly satisfactory.

The new car of the Red Cross society is a small hospital in itself, being equipped with every necessary kind of apparatus for the care of injured persons. During the stay of the car in this city it will be stationed near the local depot for at least one day, where a course of instruction and a clinic will be given by Dr. Shields for all railroad employees in this city.

GOOD BYE TO RAGPICKERS

ORDERED OFF THE STREETS OF PHILADELPHIA—99 ENGAGED IN WORK

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—Estimates that the city will be able to secure an additional income of $10,000 from the sale of rags, bottles, paper and other waste material collected with ashes, the authorities here today began a campaign to eliminate the ragpickers, who have been accustomed to collecting from the refuse left on the streets by householders for the city's collection of refuse. Police in every district were ordered to warn away the ragpickers under threat of arrest.

It is believed that about 1000 men, women and children have been engaged in this work. In the future the waste will be delivered to city dumps, the ash collectors and sold to the highest bidder.

BARK HERA GOES DOWN

BOUND FROM CHILE TO PALMOUTH, ENGLAND, STRUCK ON ROCKS NEAR PORTHALLA RIGHT

PALMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 2.—Capt. Lorenz, the first officer, and seventeen of the crew of the German bark Hera from Poshaga, Chile, for Palmouth, lost their lives yesterday through the vessel striking a rock as she had almost concluded her voyage. The remaining five men were saved through the kindness of the first officer, who, reaching his own ship, ordered the launch of his whistle to a comrade with orders to blow it. This attracted the attention of the crew of a lifeboat, who rescued the men from the rigging.

The Hera encountered a gale at the entrance to the English channel. She lost her course and struck on the rocks near Porthalla Right. The vessel immediately filled and the men took to the boats, which capsized. Eight succeeded in getting back to the ship but three of them were washed off before the lifeboat arrived. The first officer, who was lashed to the rigging, blew his whistle until the rising tide almost engulfed him. Then he passed it over with the remark: "Here, chum, you can do better with that than I can," and fell back dead.

Captain of Nantucket Says Liner Monroe Passed at High Speed

1. CAPT. JOHNSON 2. F. J. KUENNE 3. S. S. NANTUCKET AFTER CRASH 4. TAKING SURVIVORS FROM PIER.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 2.—The steamer Nantucket, which was in collision with the steamer Monroe Friday morning, docked here yesterday. In a written report to the officials of the Merchants and Miners Transportation company, Captain Berry said that in an endeavor to avoid a collision with the Monroe the Nantucket's helm was hard-a-ported to keep to the right, but the Monroe proceeded at full speed and tried to cross the bow of the Nantucket.

At right angles.

She succeeded in getting partly past the Nantucket's stern when the vessels collided, the Nantucket's stern striking the Monroe's starboard bow forward of the pilot house, almost at right angles. The Monroe moved under such great speed, according to Captain Berry's report, that the stem of the Nantucket was bent sharply toward her starboard side and the Nantucket slewed around so that her port side was scraped by the Monroe, crushing one of the Nantucket's port boats. The Monroe passed on out of sight.

At the time of the collision the Nantucket's engines were running full speed ahead and had been so running for some time previous to the collision.

THOMASVILLE, GA., MERCHANT RETURNS HOME AFTER SERVING TWO MONTHS

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 2.—A. D. Oliver, a merchant of Thomasville, Ga., returned to his home yesterday after serving two months in a Mississippi prison, the victim of mistaken identity. Oliver's resemblance to a man known at L. Charles Harding, who escaped from prison at Aberdeen some months ago caused his arrest at Thomasville last November. He established an alibi and his immediate release was ordered.

ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION

DORCHESTER MAN ARRESTED FOR TRYING TO TAKE CHILD FROM HIS WIFE'S FATHER

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Harry Porter of Leedsville street, Dorchester, was arrested yesterday in Somerville on a warrant charging him with attempting to abduct six-year-old Vera Heilberg of 37 Cornwall avenue. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $500, which was furnished by his father.

The child is a daughter of Porter's wife, but she has been making her home with Mrs. Porter's father since December, 1913, when the legal custody of the child was given him by an order from the Middlesex probate court.

Since that time the child's mother has married Porter, and she is very anxious to have the child make her home with them. The grandfather, on the other hand, is determined that the child shall remain in his care.

CASTELLANE-GOULD CASE

WAS FORMALLY REOPENED YESTERDAY—ANNULMENT TRIAL MAY TAKE LONG TIME

FOUR, Feb. 2.—The suit of Count Louis de Castellane for an annulment of his marriage with Miss Anna Gould, rejected the appeal of the Duchess de Talleyrand from the verdict of the Rota Tribunal, and the case now comes up again as a matter of regular procedure.

Consignor John Prior, rector of Beda college for Anglo-American affairs, who figured in the previous trial, has been appointed chairman of the trial. He will conduct the examinations, in which work he will have the assistance of Signor Galli, a lawyer.

The trial is likely to extend over a long period, owing to the fact that new witnesses must be interrogated in the United States. This will be done through the ecclesiastical authorities in the diocese in which they reside.

It is expected that after all the evidence has been submitted, two months will elapse before a decision is rendered.

LOWELL GIRL MISSING SINCE LAST THURSDAY

Disappeared From Home—Parents Think She Eloped With Melrose Youth

Miss Ethel M. Stevens, 17-year-old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stevens of 211 Concord street, this city, disappeared from home last Thursday and has not been seen since, and the parents fear the young woman is now married, for it was found Saturday night that the young woman and a young man giving the name of Everett A. Lapham of Melrose, had been granted a marriage license by the city clerk in Melrose, and the officials of Boston were notified, but as yet no clue has been found that would lead to the finding of the couple.

It is evident that the marriage had been planned by the young couple, for on Monday, Jan. 26, Lapham called at the city clerk's office in Melrose and filed his application for a marriage license. He gave his name as Everett A. Lapham, 31 years of age, and his address 21 Stevens place, Melrose, while the name of the young woman as given was Miss Ethel M. Stevens, same address, aged 18, and daughter of William H. Stevens. According to the law the license could not be given out until Saturday, but early Saturday afternoon the young man called at the city clerk's office and inasmuch as no protest had been filed with the clerk the license was issued.

The young woman, according to Mrs. Stevens left her home last Thursday afternoon, saying she was going to Lawrence to meet her father, but instead of going to the down-river city, she boarded a car for Melrose. Mrs. Stevens said the girl will be 18 years of age on July 22. She said the child was adopted when she was nine years of age and she remained with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens ever since. Up to last Thursday she was employed in the glass and tinware department of Nelson's Colonial store.

When she left home Miss Stevens wore a black suit and black hat with white band and white feather, and black shoes. She is a blonde and very pretty. She is about 5 feet and 6 inches in height and weighs about 100 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are opposed to the marriage because they feel that the girl is too young. They never suspected their daughter would leave them, especially to marry Lapham, for the young man had called at the home on but two occasions, Christmas night and a week ago last night. The girl never said a word about her project, but the parents believe that the plans had been arranged beforehand and that upon his last visit the young man arranged with the girl to have her meet him the following Thursday.

The Melrose and Boston police were notified and they are looking for the pair. "I want the young man arrested," said Mrs. Stevens to the writer, "and I want my daughter returned to me. She cannot marry until she is 21 years of age and until such time I want to keep her with me."

TEACHERS ON STRIKE

EIGHTY OF 120 SCHOOLS IN COUNTY OF HEREFORD, ENG., CLOSED BY WALK-OUT

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A strike of elementary school teachers, the first of its kind in the British islands, was in progress today in the county of Hereford. Eighty out of the 120 schools under the jurisdiction of the county council were closed and the teachers declare they will remain closed until they gain their demands which are for a minimum salary of $500 per annum instead of the $450 they are now receiving.

SURPRISE PARTY

On the occasion of the 45th anniversary of his birth Joseph Richard of 12 School street, Dracut, was Saturday evening presented a gold ring, the presentation address being read by Miss Anna Casso, while the gift was presented by Mr. Richard's daughter Anna. There were many friends present and a pleasant evening was spent. A dainty luncheon was served and a musical program was rendered by Misses Ida Richard, Alice Desrosiers, Bella Dalgia, Alice Casso and others. Dancing was also enjoyed and the guests departed at a seasonable hour, wishing their host many returns of the day.

The biggest pickerel ever taken from waters in this vicinity was hooked at Long Pond yesterday by John E. Burbank. It weighed nearly six pounds, and the many Lowell fishermen and near-fishermen aver that it's the largest ever pulled in.

DEMANDS OF FIRE AND STREET DEPARTMENTS

They Want Much Larger Appropriations Than Last Year—Mayor Murphy Asks for $35,000 Extra on Account of Mothers' Pension Law

If the municipal council could vote themselves all the money asked for in their estimates the tax rate will be made to do a sky rocket stunt. Commissioner Morse wants over $50,000 more than was allowed the street department last year and Commissioner Carmichael will ask for about $10,000 more than was allowed the fire department last year and he will also submit estimates on more motor propelled fire apparatus, including a new car for Chief Saunders. The chief's car went out of commission a few days ago. If cars can be credited with dispositions the chief's car had a tough one. It was bulky and hateful in every way. Unless closely watched and governed it would attempt pole climbing and it didn't make any difference if it was a telegraph pole, light pole or trolley pole. Chief Saunders avers that the thing was contrary enough to be hauled to the junk heap he will approve of the funeral. The car is four or five years old. The chief borrowed the water department's old Buick car and is using it at the present time.

New Motor Apparatus
The new motor apparatus asked for by the fire department will consist of the chief's machine, two trucks and a tractor for the old La France truck that has never been of any particular use.

PLANNING BOARD MEETS

J. D. Crook Advocates Necessary Public Improvements Even if Money Must be Borrowed

A meeting of the city planning board was called for 2 o'clock this afternoon but didn't materialize until later. The members of the board are Mayor Murphy, chairman, James D. Crook, secretary, John H. Murphy, secretary of the Lowell board of trade, Charles E. Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor council, Walter Bowers, Arthur Genest and Commissioner Donnelly, member ex-officio.

The members were all on hand at 2 o'clock, but the mayor was detained in his office until 3:25. The meeting was held in the public reception room.

It was the second meeting of the board and the mayor asked for suggestions.

Secretary Crook said he was sorry that there had been some criticism of the board but he had had an opportunity to show what it could or would do.

Mr. Crook suggested a committee scheme for the furtherance of the work of the board. He said that planning boards throughout the country had been of great service to local communities. "This is the day of big things," he said, "and we must do big things in the right way." He compared this city to a big, enterprising corporation and such a corporation is always improving its condition.

"If Lowell is to hold her standing as a municipality she must make improvements; otherwise she cannot compete with other communities that when such a cry of improvement is suggested immediately state that we cannot afford it, when, as a matter of fact, we could not afford to do without the improvements suggested."

"Too rigid a spirit of economy is liable to do more harm than good. There is danger of stagnation of business and a great deal of economy preached, is false economy."

"Lowell is a city of opportunities, but she is unfortunate in having some influential citizens who hold to antiquated economy. We want to get away from this and if we can't get away from it, this board will not be of much assistance to the city as a whole."

"The work of this board if we are to be successful must meet with the approval of the public and to make improvements we must have money."

"The borrowing of money often means the bringing of money eventually into the city treasury by making wise and necessary improvements. There are many improvements to be made in Lowell that will result in good financial investments."

Mr. Crook said that the people of Lowell are altogether too scared on the borrowing question; that it is absolutely necessary to borrow in order to advance the best interests of the city.

The following committees suggested by Mr. Crook were voted:

1.—Housing, sanitation, water supply and buildings. To this committee the mayor appointed Genest, chairman; Anderson and Donnelly.

2.—Streets, street lighting and sewers. Messrs. Donnelly, Murphy and Bowers.

3.—Railways and public transportation. Messrs. Bowers, Genest and Anderson.

4.—Parks, public squares and playgrounds. Messrs. Anderson, Murphy and Bowers.

5.—Laws, legislation, finance, maps, etc. Messrs. Murphy, Genest and Donnelly.

No Action Taken

On motion of Mr. Crook it was voted that the planning board join with the board of trade for the furtherance of the project to dredge the Merrimack river as suggested by the land and harbor commission.

It was also voted to ask the local representatives and senators to endeavor to have the bill that has been before the legislature for years relative to a statue to Gen. Butler amended, that Boston be stricken out and Lowell inserted as the place for which to erect the monument.

The board also went on record as opposed to roof signs and other large signs that have a tendency to mar the beauty of the city.

THE INITIATIVE

Supplementary Names Will be Filed Tomorrow

Supplementary initiative papers will be filed with the city clerk tomorrow. The papers were sent back to the city clerk, as were the referendum papers, because of an insufficiency of names. It is understood that the parties interested in the initiative papers have gathered the necessary number of names, and some to spare, and will file them with City Clerk Flynn tomorrow. This will mean, in the event of the names being properly certified to by the registrars, a special election to ascertain if the city will purchase the Pillsbury estate for a contagious hospital, unless the city council, in order to obviate the necessity and avoid the expense of a special election, should vote to buy the Pillsbury estate for that purpose.

20 FLED FROM FIRE

CHELSEA MAN DROPPED HIS WIFE AND CHILD FROM WINDOW—POLICEMAN DISCOVERED BLAZE

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Sarah Tessenholtz and her 1-year-old child, who were dropped out of the second-story window of their home at 138 Ash street, Chelsea, shortly after 3 this morning by Samuel Tessenholtz, the husband and father, who discovered their escape from the burning house was cut off, were quite comfortable this afternoon and suffering no severe injuries from their thrilling experience.

The others of the 20 occupants of the house fortunately were awakened before the fire had cut off their escape, and they were led out of the burning dwelling by Patrolman Joseph Lever, one of the Chelsea police department.

Trouble with the fire alarm apparatus which sounded box 23 first and later sounded box 12, caused some delay in the arrival of the firemen and the apparatus, but when the firemen did reach the scene they did valiant work.

What caused the fire has not been determined, but an investigation is being made because of the peculiarly suspicious circumstances of the fire. It has been determined that the fire started under the main stairway in the front hall on the street floor and when the flames got under way they cut off the only avenue of escape for the imprisoned tenants.

Patrolman Leverone discovered the fire shortly after 3 and he immediately ran through the house.

Mr. F. Rosenthal owns the house, which is a three-story wooden affair; Julius Steinberg and family occupy the street floor; Samuel Tessenholtz, wife and infant child occupy the second floor, and Jacob Bookman and his family live on the third floor.

When he discovered the fire, Patrolman Leverone made a hurried effort to arouse the occupants, and then he sent in an alarm. He returned in haste to the house and facing the flames and blinding smoke he rushed through the halls and up the stairs and managed to waken the Bookman and Steinberg families. He led them over the stairway and through the smoke-filled halls, carrying children in his arms.

Tessenholtz and his wife and infant child had been awakened by this time and they rushed to the front windows and screamed for help. Their escape by the stairway was completely cut off. Tessenholtz picked up his child and holding the infant out of the window, he screamed to pedestrians to come close to the building and catch the child.

Men screamed to Tessenholtz to wait for the firemen and the ladders, but he refused and several men ran in close under the window. The excited father dropped the infant 20 feet into the arms of the men below, who caught it without its being injured.

Next Tessenholtz aided his wife Sarah to climb out upon the window ledge, and holding her hands he permitted her to hang down while he yelled to the men on the street to catch her. She seemed amazingly calm when the men on the sidewalk cried out "Drop her." Tessenholtz let go and his wife fell 20 feet into the arms of the men below. Her weight was too much for the men, and Mrs. Tessenholtz and her rescuers fell. She was picked up hysterical and bruised and carried to the house of a neighbor, where she was cared for.

In the excitement at seeing his wife fall Tessenholtz mounted the window ledge and prepared to jump into the street to escape the flames.

Patrolman Leverone and the civilian rescuers tried to wait, and he paused, for the firemen were at that moment raising a ladder. Within a minute firemen raced over the ladder, and Tessenholtz was led to the street in safety.

The fire raged through the house between the walls and the ceiling, and reached the firemen for more than an hour. When the fire was extinguished the house was damaged to the extent of $2500, and the loss to furnishings in the three apartments was $1000 additional.

Third Edition CURLEY INAUGURATED MAYOR OF BOSTON

Removes A. G. Everett From Commission and Appoints P. O'Hearn to Fill Vacancy

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—Congressman James M. Curley was inaugurated as mayor of Boston today in succession to John F. Fitzgerald. The oath of office democrat and is serving his second term. On the municipal ballot no party designations were permitted.

Mayor Curley took the oath of office before a gathering that considerably exceeded the capacity of Tremont Temple, one of the largest auditoriums in the city.

The greater part of the inaugural message dealt with city finances, which, Mr. Curley said, would have shown today a city treasury without a dollar but for an extraordinary effort to collect taxes in the closing days of the last administration.

The mayor laid emphasis on the industrial development of the city and favored the tender of sites without costs to manufacturers agreeing to locate here.

"I propose," he said, "to contribute $2,000 of my annual salary and shall invite similar contributions from public-spirited citizens for the promotion of such industrial work. By such a policy it will be possible in ten years to add $50,000,000 to the realty value of the city."

A monthly conference by representatives of church, capital and labor to plan a policy constructive in character and anticipating 20 or more years' growth in municipal life was favored by Mayor Curley.

"Such a commission created 20 years ago would have kept down the tax rate and the city debt," he said, "and would have prevented the present unsightly elevated system and short-sighted and wholly inadequate system of tunnels and subways."

The mayor expressed himself in favor of abolishing parental schools and correctional institutions for public offenders and substituting a policy of farming out the boys.

One of Mayor Curley's first acts in reaching his desk at city hall was to carry out a campaign pledge by removing Arthur G. Everett from the position of building commissioner. Patrick O'Hearn was appointed to fill the vacancy.

The city council organized with Daniel J. McDonald as president, Jas. Donohay was re-elected city clerk.

DENIES CAPT. BERRY'S STORY AND SAYS HIS LINER WAS STANDING STILL WHEN HIT

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Captain E. E. Johnson of the Old Dominion liner Monroe, which sank off the Virginia coast last week with a loss of 41 lives, arrived here today and was shown dispatches quoting Capt. Berry of the Nantuxet, which rammed the Monroe, as saying the Monroe at the time of the collision was attempting to pass the Nantuxet starboard to starboard, contrary to maritime regulations.

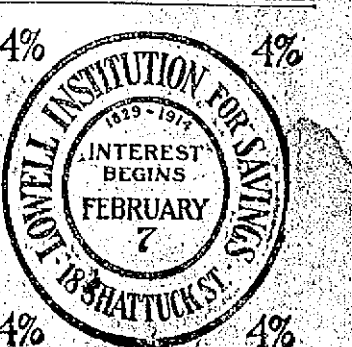

"I suppose Captain Berry is trying to save his ticket," said Johnson. "We were at a standstill when the Nantuxet hit us. I think his report that the Nantuxet engines were reversed must be true, as the Nantuxet backed immediately after we were hit."

"I was the last man to leave the Monroe and I stepped directly from the deck into a lifeboat as the port rail was then beneath the water. We rowed around for some time and picked up several persons. That is all I care to say."

COUNTERFEITING PLANT

Newsboys Gave the Boston Police Tip and Two Men Known in Italy and America Captured

BOSTON, Feb. 2.—A daily original scheme for looting a sudden flood of counterfeit coins on the streets of Boston through the agency of small boys was yesterday successfully thwarted through the police.

By the arrest at an early hour of two men who are said to have been for years a thorn in the side of the governments of Italy and the United States as successful makers and distributors of false money, the police believe they have struck at the root of the conspiracy.

The men, Giuseppe Viola and Giovanni Lalla, were seized as they entered the house of Giuseppe Pizzuto at 42 Hale street, where a crude but effective counterfeiting plant was found.

They had already, the police say, begun to pour out a stream of plated half dollars, 570 of which were found in a bag in one of the rooms.

Their simple and direct business method, it is charged, was the straight preparation to pass Italian law, "500 of our money for 25 or 30 cents—and no one can tell the difference."

Federal officers said yesterday that the work of these men, if they are the counterfeiters as claimed, was novel in counterfeiting history.

Almost No Seizure

Instead of the care and secrecy usually exercised in such schemes, their line of operation was put out on a sort of a shipboard imitation coin that would "get by" with the thoughtless or ignorant, offer them almost openly to "tools," usually boys, dump their whole product of a day or two and make their getaway.

Their fifth in boys, however, was in their Boston operations, misplaced and led to their capture. For it was the cleverness of newsboys on whom the fake half dollars had been passed that gave their scheme away, almost on the eve of their departure for other fields.

The taking into custody of Viola and Lalla followed the turning over of a number of Italian lads, who the police think had to hand in making and money, but were merely caught by the glowing offer of "500 for 25."

Mystery attached yesterday to the exact connection with the counterfeiters of Colagore Ruffo, an older man, who gave the address of 8 Bullfinch street. According to the police he was a "drummer" of the concern, peddling out the fake coin in small amounts after Viola and Lalla had made it.

Pizzuto, who harbored the alleged counterfeiters at 42 Hale street, is claimed to have been cognizant of what they were doing, even to the extent of lending his kitchen stove for melting the base metal they used in their spurious coins, but to have tried to establish an alibi by always being out of the house while this process was in progress. Viola and Lalla are said to have selected Pizzuto as their landlord because they knew he was out of work and "hard up" and would not object to anything that brought money into the house—not even to making it there.

Newsboys Furnish Tip

The first hint that the flood of solder currency was on in Boston was given Saturday evening, when newsboys came to Patrolman Patrick O'Brien, on duty near the North station, with news, shiny, but clearly counterfeit 50-cent pieces.

They said that a gang of lads not much older than themselves were dealing out the things in the North and West Ends, and further they knew at least one of the crowd.

This "tip" led to the rapid rounding up of the gang. The last taken were Viola and Lalla. Sgt. Murphy and Patrolman Lalla lay in wait for them at Pizzuto's house. The men accepted arrest in a matter of fact way, not even taking the trouble to find out that the officers were sure of their identity.

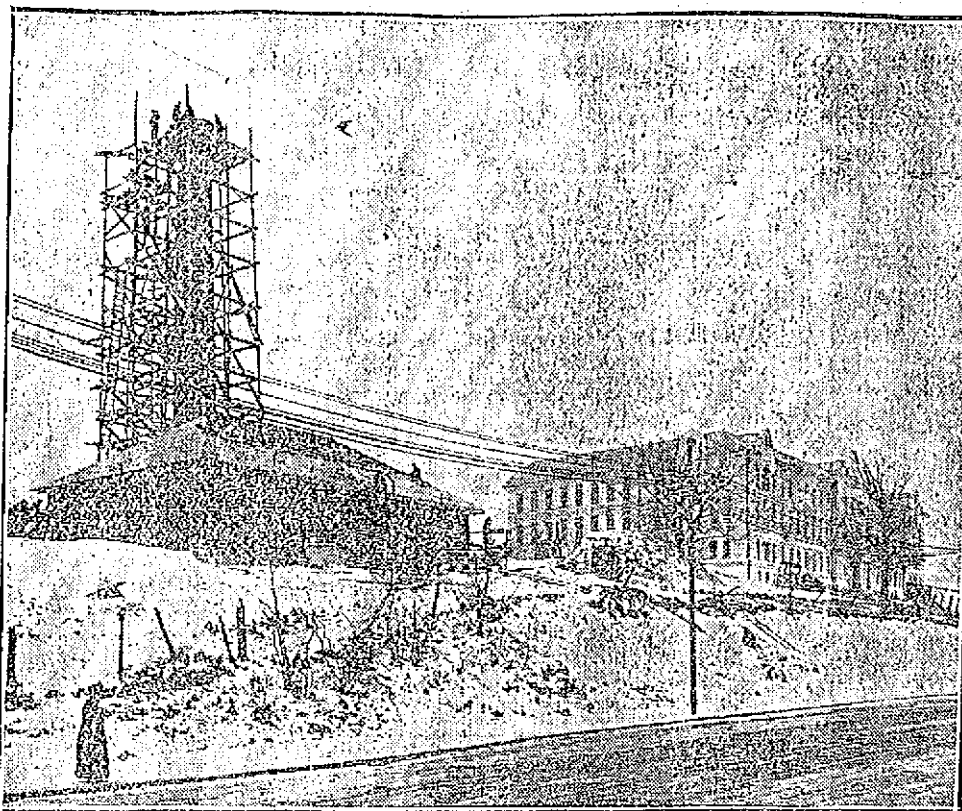

Federal officers were delighted to discover yesterday that the two supposed ringleaders had recently been in Lynn, where a supply of half dollar coins much like those found in this city, recently showed up. It is believed they were responsible for these counterfeiters also.

One of their peculiarities, it is said, was not to let the bad coins lie idle in their hands, but to get them into circulation almost before they got cool.

Officers say, for instance, that they have found the money that was passing current in this city Saturday was turned out some time Friday.

Federal officers gleaned enough of the former lives of the alleged counterfeiters to believe they have had an exciting history, which includes a flight from Italy because the authorities there began to connect them with the extraordinary supply of bad lira in that country.

ST. ELIZABETH'S HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN NEARING CLOSE—LOWELL'S $5000 ALMOST RAISED

VIEW OF ST. ELIZABETH'S HOSPITAL AT ITS PRESENT STAGE OF CONSTRUCTION—THE BIG CHIMNEY IS FOR THE POWER PLANT

As the days of the great campaign now being conducted to raise $200,000 for the new St. Elizabeth's hospital, Brighton, draw to a close, the increases daily, whether in Boston, Lowell, or any other part of the archdiocese grow proportionately larger. In Boston the greatest enthusiasm prevails among the leaders in the movement for it has become apparent that the desired sum will have been raised in its entirety by Wednesday evening when the campaign proper draws to a close. Already $124,000 has been registered at campaign headquarters and this does not comprise the full reports from outside parishes. During the next three days no stone will be left unturned to collect the remaining $75,000, and the leaders of the movement depend in great measure on the final reports of Lowell, Lawrence, Lynn and the other

Observed in the Catholic Churches Today—The Feast of Saint Blaise Tomorrow

The celebrant of the high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday was Rev. James J. Kerrigan, while the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, who took his text from the gospel of the day. Rev. Fr. Curtin also made the announcements in the course of which he stated that special services will be held tomorrow morning and evening in honor of St. Blaise at which time the blessing of throats will take place. Masses will be celebrated at the usual time and there will be a high mass at 8 o'clock. In the evening a special service will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

This morning a high mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock as this is Candlemas day and the congregation was very large. Candles were blessed and the parishioners were urged to keep them in their homes for use in case of sickness.

The Holy Name society at its last meeting elected officers for the ensuing year with the following result: Timothy Rahm, president; John J. Sullivan, vice president; Owen Healey, recording secretary; Ed and McCarthy, financial secretary; Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director and chaplain.

On Tuesday evening a meeting will be held at the school hall and all members are requested to be present for important business is forthcoming. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer will be read and plans for the coming year will be arranged.

Immaculate Conception

At the 10 o'clock mass at the Church of the Immaculate Conception yesterday the pastor, Rev. Fr. Lawrence M. Tighe, O. M. I., thanked the people for the generosity of their contributions to the church debt fund last Sunday. He also requested those who had not been reached by the collectors for the St. Elizabeth's hospital fund to send their contribution to Rev. Fr. Owen P. McQuaid, O. M. I. It was announced that besides the morning service of the blessing of the throats tomorrow, Tuesday, the feast of St. Blaise, there will be a special service at 7:30 p. m. to be attended by adults and minors who work.

The sermon at the 10 o'clock mass was preached by Rev. Fr. Tighe, who took for his subject the gospel of the day or the calming of the seas and the tempest by Jesus Christ. He drew a comparison between the life of man and the voyage in the boat mentioned in the scriptures, and said that through all storms and perils men on the side of God need not fear and that we have Christ as our command. It was his wish with us by divine grace. The sermon at high mass was preached by Rev. Fr. John P. Reynolds, O. M. I., who is on a brief visit to the Immaculate Conception rectory. Fr. Reynolds preached with his usual eloquence on the divine gift of faith and how it should be cherished by members of the Catholic church.

St. Mary's

Rev. Thomas A. Walsh, pastor of St. Mary's church, officiated at both masses yesterday morning and also addressed his flock, giving instructions on the meaning of the feast of Candlemas, dwelling particularly on the virtues of the Blessed Virgin, as the feast means the purification of the virgin. He also made a strong appeal for the St. Elizabeth's hospital fund and before the day was over the following contributions had been received from residents of the parish: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Scofield, $100 for equipping a room; Rev. Thomas A. Walsh, $50; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Whelan, $25; J. H. Cunningham, $10; a friend, $1; John Callery, 50 cents.

At 5 o'clock this morning a mass was celebrated in honor of the feast of Candlemas and preceding the service the blessing of candles took place. At the close of the mass the candles were distributed to the entire congregation. Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the blessing of throats will take place and a special service of the same nature will be held in the evening at 7 o'clock.

Sacred Heart Church

Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., preached an eloquent sermon at the Sacred Heart church yesterday on the obligation of paying homage to God. "One fitting way to do this," said the speaker, "is by regular attendance at mass on Sunday." To assist at the holy sacrifice of the mass is to comply with God's commandment. "Remember, then, keep holy the Sabbath day." By the pronouncing of the word "Remember" God showed the importance of carrying out this commandment. The attendance at mass, not only benefits the participant, but shows a good example to others, said the speaker.

The high mass was celebrated by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., and an excellent musical program was rendered by the choir under the direction of John J. Kelly.

Yesterday afternoon the Holy Rosary society held its regular monthly meeting and elected officers for the ensuing term. The results were as follows: President, Mrs. Maria Doherty; vice president, Mrs. Dennis Deporcher; treasurer, Mrs. Hans Backe; secretary, Mrs. James P. Garrity; and spiritual director, Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I. Rev. Fletcher took occasion to thank the retiring officers for their great work during the past year. He was particularly grateful to Mrs. Thomas Farrell, the former president. He said that through Mrs. Farrell's untiring efforts the society had one of its most successful years. She worked zealously for the society and church and her administration calls for words of praise from all, said the speaker. The members then gave a rising vote of thanks to the former officers. A committee was appointed to take charge of the annual social of the society, which will be held in the school hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 12. An entertainment program will be given, followed by dancing, and refreshments will be served.

Notre Dame de Lourdes

The high mass at Notre Dame de Lourdes church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. J. B. A. Barrette, O. M. I., while the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph Magner, O. M. I., who took his text from the gospel of the day. The pastor, Rev. Leon Lamothe, O. M. I., who made the announcements, also announced that a collection was being

LONDON AND PARIS DESCRIBED

Rev. Sarah A. Dixon Gives Her Impressions of Both Cities

Conduct in the German Beer Gardens She Considers Vulgar

REV. SARAH A. DIXON

Rev. Sarah A. Dixon, Ph. D., spoke at High Street Congregational church Sunday night, and gave her impressions of religious conditions in Europe, as gathered during a casual survey of a few of the cities and towns.

When one wakes up in London on a Sunday morning, she said, one accustomed to Boston is perfectly at home.

The atmosphere is precisely the same, speaking from a religious point of view. The only indulgence that London has on the Sabbath day—speaking generally—is in Hyde Park from 6 to 10 p. m., when children and dogs are permitted to be out. It turns practically inside out.

In Paris, on the contrary, the shops are open and shops are hanging their goods on the sidewalks. By the time you have reached the cathedral, you have lost your religious feeling and must generate one that is in keeping with the beauty of the place that you enter for worship. Paris for the rest of the day is in play. She is gentle, sweet and tender, luxurious, happy and joyous and glad and radiant on a Sunday. There is nothing morose, no appearance of anything that would offend the taste. She is simply having a good time with life, playing with it as a kitten plays with a ball. You feel that life will do her no harm, simply because she has such a good time with it.

Speaking of the barrooms of London and the cafes of Paris, she said that in England the people drink; in Paris they sip.

Immorality with Paris is never brutal, never vulgar, she does not drag it out by the hair into the streets, that all may see it. Her immorality is subtle, refined, cultured; and one can only detect it by intuition. Paris is not so open, careless, indifferent. She is rather intemperately sober or soberly intemperate, whichever you please. Our old New England conscience forces us to desire to save her, and yet somewhere, back in the regions of hearts and minds and judgment, we have a notion that she is supremely right in a good time with it.

Dr. Dixon's impressions of Southern Germany—she did not visit the north of Germany—were very different on a Sunday. The beer gardens were crowded and the carousels were distracting; and one longed for Paris, and the cafes where the people sit and sip wine.

Secy. H. W. Gibson to Y. M. C. A.

If W. Gibson, state secretary for boys' work of the Y. M. C. A. in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, addressed an audience composed of young men at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, and gave a very unique and interesting talk, in which he likened a man's shadow to his character and influence and personality. His subject was "The Man Who Just His Shadow," and he said he drew his inspiration from a book where the story was told of how a man sold his shadow and what comment it produced and what effect it had on the public mind.

Character, he described as the unconscious development of something within in yourself that makes you want to give to the world the best there is in you. Character lives after you and has its effect on others. You can't bury a shadow and you can't buy a character, though you may buy the body. Influence and character form a sort of shadow to you by association with others. The boy who associates with the wrong influences builds against his character and influence. The man who makes the wrong kind of character loses his influence.

Mr. Gibson is well known in Lowell as a speaker and he held the attention of his audience well when he discussed the "shadows."

DEMAND TROOPS LEAVE

Citizens Committee at Port au Prince Say There is No Necessity for Foreign Troops

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 2.—A demand for the withdrawal from the Haitian capital of the German and American bluejackets and marines has been presented to the members of the foreign diplomatic corps by the citizens committee of public safety. This body, which was formed immediately after the flight of President Oreste, points out that perfect tranquility has prevailed for some time in the capital and still continues, and that, therefore, there is no necessity for the presence here of foreign troops.

The port authorities forbade the landing of a party of 36 prominent exiles who arrived here yesterday on board the German steamer Sardinia. Among them were Gen. Herelle Monplaisir, former minister of war, and H. Paulus Sannon, former Haitian minister at Washington. The Sardinia later left for Jamaica with the exiles still on board. Reports from the south indicate serious disturbances there. Firing squads of government troops have executed a number of leading revolutionaries at the ports of Aux Cayes and Aquin, including M. Lavieaux, a former deputy.

Gen. Dartigue, military governor of the southern province, is suppressing with a strong hand all attempts at a revolutionary outbreak.

MATHEW T. I. MET

Interesting Meeting by Temperance Boys Yesterday Forenoon

The members of the Mathew Temperance Institute held a largely attended meeting at their hall in Central street yesterday forenoon when considerable business was transacted, and the large attendance showed that the old Mathew spirit is being revived in this city. The meeting was presided over by President William H. Carey, and three new members were admitted, while eight propositions for membership were received.

The ball committee reported that the following have been appointed to look after the speakers as well as the musical program: William H. Carey, Andrew J. Welch, Thomas Durkin, John J. McCusker and James P. Rourke. A banquet will precede the ball and several prominent speakers will address the gathering. The next meeting of the ball committee is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 10. Great interest is being shown in this affair, and the committee hopes to have an attendance of 500 present at this event.

The committee in charge of the reception to be tendered the St. Charles C. T. A. of Woburn reported that in response to the request of the Woburn society the affair had been postponed to the evening of Feb. 12.

The chairman of the membership committee, Patrick J. Nestor, reported that five teams, consisting of five members each, will enter the membership contest.

The following committee was appointed to arrange a series of concerts on Sunday afternoons: Andrew J. Welch, chairman; John J. McCusker, James Armstrong, James J. Sloan, Edward Harris, John J. Sullivan and William P. Carey. The first one was held yesterday afternoon. The following program was greatly enjoyed by the 125 attending: Opening remarks, President W. H. Carey; selection by Healey's orchestra; "Get Out and Get Under the Automobile," George Rogers; piano solo, Mr. John Ball; song, "A Little Bit of Green," Marian Nolan; address, Edward P. Slattery; selection, Healey's orchestra; song, "Then I'll Stop-Loving You," Miss Jennie Wynne; song, "Little Girl of My Dreams," Lawrence Delaney; song, "The Old Man and the Sea," Miss Madeline Boland; whistling solo, William Carr; song, "When Sweet Mario Was Sweet Sixteen," Paul Coleman; "The Old Oaken Bucket," by the entire gathering, under the direction of George Rogers; selection, Healey's orchestra.

Another pool table is being installed in the already well appointed quarters of the society, and the enthusiasm that now prevails at the club is a sure sign of a large increase in membership.

ITCHED FOR 20 YEARS, RESINOL CURED IN 10 DAYS

BALTIMORE, Md., July 10, 1913.—"About twenty years ago both my legs began to itch from ankle to knee. Little pimples came out. The itching and burning was something terrible. I would start to scratch and could not stop. I would even scratch through the skin and that of course would leave a sore which I was compelled to bandage."

"I tried several prescriptions and treatments, but received not a particle of benefit—no more than if the treatments were cold water. I then began to have very little faith in anything and of course could do nothing but scratch away."

"After suffering constantly for twenty years, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. From the very first application, I found relief, and was entirely cured in ten days. The itching and stinging sensations have ceased and my skin is as smooth as a child's." (Signed) Charles Warner, 1123 N. Stricker St.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for eighteen years and every druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c) and Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00). Don't be deceived by the useless "substitutes," which a few unscrupulous dealers offer. For free trial, write to Dept. 57-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

Nervous people who have not yet developed a disease that can be recognized and treated by the medical profession have the greatest trouble in finding relief. Irritation, headache, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, all these discomforts make life miserable but are endured rather than run a doctor's bill without definite hope of recovery.

Every such sufferer should know the danger of such a condition of the nervous system. Nervous debility and even paralysis may easily result if the tone of the nerves is not restored.

The one big fact that brings hope and relief is that the nerves can be restored by building up the blood. It is through the blood that nourishment and medicine reach the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and quickly restore vitality and energy to a weak nervous system. A nervous person who gives these pills a trial is almost certain to see good results, and what is more, the benefit will be lasting because the trouble is attacked at its root. Thin blood makes weak nerves. Building up the blood restores the nerve force.

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and write the Dr. Williams Medical Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy of "Diseases of the Nervous System."

INSIDE TRUTH OF BOMB OUTRAGES IN NEW YORK IS AT LAST REVEALED

1. BURKE—2. ZUMP—3. STYLE OF BOMB—4. TYPE OF DAMAGE DONE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Startling confession was made by Anthony Salicrú, alias Burke and Rocco Pucellaro, alias Zump, at the trial of several charged with being responsible for most of the hundreds of bomb outrages committed in this city within the last year. They smilingly admitted that they had set off dynamite bombs for any sum of money they could get from those who employed them. They claimed that they tried never to take life, but this part of their statement was taken by the police authorities with a grain of salt because several have been maimed or killed during the year by explosions, the latest victim being a young woman stenographer in an office which was blown up.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Starting today, the Merrimack Square Theatre will revert to its old policy of presenting vaudeville and motion pictures. There will be five of the greatest acts ever seen in Lowell, and as for the pictures, it can truthfully be said that never before have local theatregoers seen anything the like of which will be shown at Lowell's most popular theatre. For today, vaudeville's greatest quartet, The Exposition Four, "The Flying Horse," an act with seven people, heads the bill, and Ellen Tate, Gordon & Rose and Roundy Roane will also appear. This routine will be followed today, tomorrow and Wednesday. For the last three days of the week another complete program will be seen. The prices will be 10 cents. Reserved seats five cents extra. The first reel in the afternoon will be started at 2 o'clock, while in the evening there will be two shows, the first commencing at 8:15. Always the biggest and best show in Lowell for the price. See today's bill and forever after you wouldn't miss one of them for worlds.

THE OPERA HOUSE
Today and tomorrow at the Opera House another of the big feature programs which have made this house the most popular of any in the city will be presented. The feature picture is "The "Battle of Waterloo," the greatest war drama ever produced and exhibited to the public on the motion picture screen. This great picture was photographed on the actual scene of the battle and in its making eight thousand men and six thousand horses contributed their efforts. Striking lifelike portrayals of Napoleon Bonaparte, "the little corporal," the duke of Wellington, known as "the Iron Duke," and of Blücher, as "the Iron Duke," and of Blücher, the student, the seeker of sensation, the curious, the lover of the spectacular, and in fact to the world at large. Every man, woman and child in Lowell should be sure and see it. In addition to this feature there will be offered another big Warner feature, "The Red Spider," in three big parts. The price of admission is within the reach of all. Five cents for the children and ten cents for adults.

KEITH'S THEATRE
"Harmony at Home," one of the most fascinating of musical offerings, has been secured for the Keith theatre this week. It is, in reality, one of the nearest of the kind, and one which has been acclaimed everywhere as something which should make an appeal to all classes of theatregoers. Its title indicates fairly well just what may be expected. Three women and two men, instrumentalists and vocalists, give an almost continuous concert of different grades of music, ranging from some of the older songs to the latest of light music. The act is equipped with special scenery and costumes, and is far above the ordinary. The Monette Five are responsible for it, and, last week, in Portland were the recipients of much favorable comment from press and public.

The nautical travesty, "The Battle of Bay Rum," which was concocted in the fertile brain of Ed. Gallagher, will be presented by Collins and Seymour. It is a rattling funny affair, something you will shriek at, and it keeps growing funnier all of the time. Imagine, if you can, a beautiful sunrise on Vandyke bay, where the good battleship "Sandy Hook," commanded by "Admiral Dock," is steaming along, ready to bombard the enemy. The admiral summons his faithful navy, consisting of one scared sailor and together they proceed with the attack. "The Sandy Hook" steams merrily on, although her crew is sorely afraid. It is then discovered that the ship cannot be stopped from going ahead. If it were possible to turn her around, the crew would do so. The enemy, mistaking the stubbornness of the ship for the bravery of its crew, capitulates, and a glorious victory is theirs. Mr. Collins will appear as the admiral, while Harry Seymour will be the "Shaker Schultz," a sort of a sea dog.

Tom Mahoney, the comedian and wild as president of the Red Carriers' union, will entertain with songs and stories. Mahoney is a very droll man. There is nobody quite in the same line with him. He has studied his characters at first hand, and knows their strong points as well as their weak ones. The result is an uproarious nature. His singing, too, is first class. Laneton, Lucier & Co. in a very funny skit, "Heaps of Hilarity," are known here for their splendid work in past years.

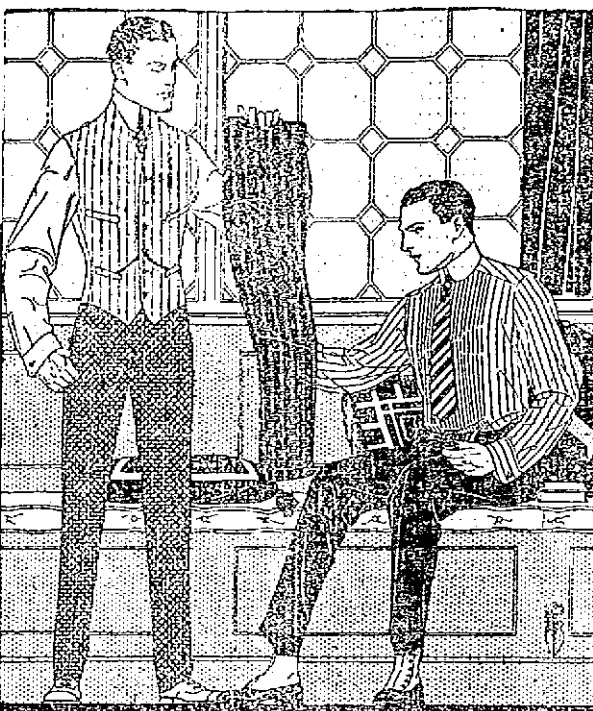

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sorrowful complexion—dark rings under your eyes—disfigure a beautiful look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which has gone to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for saloper, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. SHOT BY THUGS

Providence Man Who Had $1,000 With Him, Attacked

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 2.—Two gunmen, accompanied by a 16-year-old boy, shot down Frank C. Pettis, a prominent oyster dealer of 716 Broad street early yesterday morning as he was leaving his private garage at the rear of his home. The boldness of the attack coming after several other hold-ups has aroused this city. The police are bending every effort to find a trace of the assailants. Pettis, the surgeons believe, will recover. One bullet was taken from his head and a second passed through his shoulder.

Pettis had arrived at his garage about 5 o'clock yesterday morning after a spin following the closing of his business place, and an accounting of the week's transactions. He had $1000 in bills with him, and wore diamonds valued at $2000. He had placed his car in the garage and had stepped from the door when he was suddenly confronted with the two men, each holding a revolver. A boy of 16 or 17 years of age was standing in the rear of the men, evidently acting as their lookout.

The men told Pettis to halt and throw up his hands. Pettis, instead, started to run toward his house. As he did so one of the men fired. The bullet entered his head. Pettis fell to the ground. Soon after, he got to his feet again and started to run toward the street. A second shot struck him in the shoulder and as he dropped three more shots were fired at him. The men and boy then started to walk at a lively pace up Public street to Broad st., where all traces of them vanished. Mr. Pettis crawled with difficulty to his house, and a started servant opened the door as he dropped in the hallway.

Before he lost consciousness he directed that the police be notified. Dr. W. G. Sullivan was immediately summoned, and succeeded in taking the bullet from the wounded man's head. It is said he has a good chance of recovery.

Trapped in Hotel by Fire—Manager Seriously Burned and May Die

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Twenty guests in the Hotel Lyric, facing Times square at Forty-third street, were trapped in their rooms last night by a fire which had started in a cafe kitchen in the basement and were rescued with ladders thrown against the side of the side of the building and across roofs. Max Kennedy, the manager, was seriously burned and is expected to die.

Men and women, diners in fashionable restaurants thronged the sidewalks and shouted words of encouragement to the persons in the hotel. The flames crept toward the roof, blocking stairs and fire escapes while the firemen worked. The guests of the Times square hotel fled to the street.

as this hotel, together with Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre were threatened for a time. The damage to the Lyric hotel and to Dowling's cafe underneath was placed at about $30,000.

Richard F. Murray, a guest, was found nearly overcome by smoke in a hallway. Gas Gorman, a fireman, was forced by the flames to make a 25-foot leap to the street, and broke an ankle. A man known as "Kid Griffin," a piano player, and Joseph Chappel, a guest were among those slightly injured.

THE OVI THEATRE

Three great attractions will be shown again this week. Monday and Tuesday, "The Great Leap," a picture which combines a sensational feud will be the special and the usual daily program of five other photo-plays will be shown on the screen. An amazing leap on horseback is one of the stirring scenes of this "Great Leap" picture. "The Star of India" will be the four act special for Wednesday and Thursday and will also prove a very dramatic offering. Friday and Saturday "Victory or Death" will be shown with a brand-new attraction. "The Mutual Girl" is the name of this interesting feature, and she will be at the Ovi for the next 13 weeks. She goes to the big city through a series of adventures that are unique and wholly unlooked for.

COLONIAL THEATRE
Never in the history of the Colonial theatre has it had a greater success than that of last week. On some of the nights the "Full House" sign has been put up early in the evening. Mr. Knoff, the manager, has received many congratulations for the continued excellence of his pictures and especially because of their remarkable clearness and cleanliness and freedom from annoying flicker that is so distressing to patrons.

For next week, the Colonial has booked a number of feature films that are the best that can be obtained and has specially engaged for Tuesday the famous "Roxton Musical Pictures" which have proven wonderful successes wherever shown and heard. Never before have these pictures been seen in Lowell and the Colonial is assured of big and pleased audiences.

UNION LABOR VICTORY

As is well known, this concern operates stores large as the H. H. Long stores in all large cities of the country, selling the well known Walcott $2.00, R. H. Long $3 and Rector $3.50 shoes. All shoes now for sale in his stores will bear the union stamp.

GUNMAN IN POLICE COURT TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

Will be Turned Over to Nashua Police—Card Players Arrested—Long List of Drunks

Alfred Girouard, the man captured Saturday by Lieut. Maher and who is wanted by the Nashua police for several holdups in that city, was arrested today on the charge of carrying a revolver. His case was held over until tomorrow, but Girouard will be turned over to the Nashua police for the charges against him there.

Crab Shooters
Peter Morin was one of a crowd who were shooting crabs in a doorway on Ford street, yesterday, when Officer O'Neil happened to come along. Morin was the only one of the crowd who was caught and his poor showing as a sprinter cost him $5 this morning.

Sunday Card Game
A squad of police officers, headed by Lieut. Freeman, raided a smoking room in Union street last night and seven men were arrested on the charge of "being present at a game on the Lord's day." They were in police court this morning. They gave the following names:

Mitchell Sullivan, John Powers, Fred H. Baker, Robert H. Duffy, John F. Callahan and Frank F. Donnelly. All pleaded guilty and were fined $10 each. Joseph McDonald had his case placed on file owing to the fact that he stepped into the room on business.

The police court dock was filled to overflowing this morning when Judge Enright took his place upon the bench. The majority of the cases were simple drunken offenders, however, which were quickly disposed of.

Fred Jackson, a man from the woods of New Hampshire, pleaded guilty to drunkenness. Officer Conroy told the court that the man was very drunk and chased another man with a knife Saturday. The defendant told a straightforward story about the affair and, as it was his first offense, Judge Enright released him and sent him back to his home.

William A. Connell appeared in court with a badly cut head which was swathed in bandages. Connell did not know how he received the cuts and bruises on his cranium. In view of the fact that the defendant was in need of medical treatment, Judge Enright sent him to jail for ten days.

Malcolm J. Lafrance pleaded guilty to drunkenness. Officer Drewett said defendant hung around, barrooms and night club work. Lafrance received a suspended sentence of two months in jail.

Joseph Kelley, a barber from Boston, who seems to prefer Lowell liquor to that of his home village, was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail on condition that he immediately make tracks for Boston. Kelley fervently promised to do this and was sent forth. Daniel J. Shea was sent to the state farm for his third offense of drunkenness within a year and Dennis O. Shea received a $5 fine for the second offense.

George Gallant, with a residence and family in Lawrence was fined $5, and John J. Brennan received a like penalty.

Flavian Lattenville and Patrick Wall were each taxed $5 for their second drop from the water cart within the current year. Thomas F. Murray was sent to the state farm for drunkenness and Michael A. Sullivan went to jail for four months. Lewis H. Cheney was sent to jail for twenty days to get his liquor out of his system. Officer Bignow said that the defendant had been drinking heavily for some time but that he was an inoffensive chap even when drunk.

Saturday seemed to be a record breaking day for arrests for drunkenness.

WOMEN VISIT PRESIDENT

350 Suffragettes Storm White House and Argued for "Cause"—Worked Hard for Wilson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Led by an operative from a Pennsylvania cotton mill, Miss Rose Winslow of Philadelphia, 350 suffragettes who had descended on Washington from ten states, interviewed President Wilson here this afternoon about his views of the suffrage question. The women had left their work in factories, mills, shops and offices in different sections of the country to make their appeal to the president.

Early in the afternoon the wage workers were received by the chief executive in the White House. To their earnest solicitations that he would support their cause, however, the president made no decisive reply, but gave an earnest and sympathetic attention to their pleas.

When these had been brought to a close, the delegates filed by the president and began shaking his hand. Here there came a surprise to everyone present when many of the women passed by, ignoring the proffered hand of Mr. Wilson.

At their exit Dr. Mary Walker, in male attire, argued with the women that suffrage was a state issue. She was not permitted to enter with the delegation.

The pleas of the working women were marked with a touch of pathos and emotion as they described the hardships of women workers.

"Shaking and trembling," said Miss Margaret Hinchey of the laundry workers of New York, "we come to plead with you. You are so 'square' and 'on the level' and so much a real democrat that I appeal to you to wipe out the injustice that exists. We could help every democrat if we had the vote."

Miss Mary Schneiderman of New York, representing the cap makers, spoke of the hardships of women in mills and mines.

"We suffer side by side with the men," she said, "and in constant fear of losing our jobs." As she told of many cases of suffering the president's

RAPID DECLINES

Continued in Rock Island at Opening—Brisk Recovery Followed

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Rock Island continued today the rapid decline which began Saturday owing to the report that the company would be reorganized. Both the stocks and bonds were pressed for sale at the opening. The common fell 2 1/2 to 10 1/2; the preferred three points to 16 1/2 and the collateral 4 1/2 to 47. Weakness of these securities affected the general list which, after an irregular opening, became heavy. Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading, Smelting, Westinghouse, Western Union, American Telephone and U. S. Steel Car lost a point each. Blount shot up two points.

A brisk recovery followed the early decline in prices and by noon most of the leading stocks were on a level with the previous close or slightly above. The break in Rock Island securities was the principal factor in the early downward movement. Reports that dividends would be suspended on Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific stock, which is security for the Rock Island collateral bonds, accompanied the slump in all of the old and new Rock Island issues. Pressure was lifted later on demand that the company was suffering from financial embarrassment. Rock Island stock made up part of their losses and the general list advanced.

The influence in the rally in Rock Island securities was counteracted in the afternoon by weakness of various investment shares. American Telephone, Canadian Pacific and New York Central were under pressure. There was extensive selling here for foreign accounts. London disposed of about 35,000 shares here.

The market closed weak. Underlying securities showed covering, the list fell off readily in the last hour when professional pressure was applied more vigorously.

NOW HAITI RISES UP TO TROUBLE UNCLE SAM WITH NEW REVOLUTION

U.S. MARINES 2-CRUISER MONTANA 3-CAPT. RUSSELL IN CHARGE AT HAYTI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—President Wilson from Guantanamo to Port au Prince, Haiti, and left the country without a government. Marines from the United States cruiser Montana were landed at Port au Prince to protect American interests. Marines also have been landed from a German cruiser stationed at Port au Prince. This condition of affairs imposes upon the administration another embarrassing problem in the relations of this government with the Caribbean countries. Under the declaration of policy made by President Wilson he will be unable to recognize any revolutionary government set up in Haiti as the result of this uprising. Rear Admiral Badger reported that he had dispatched the battleship South Caro-

It will have a huge centerboard and a greater spread of canvas than any of its predecessors of the same name. Lipton is here, too, in conference with C. E. Nicholson, the designer of the Shamrock IV.

BILLERICA NEWS NEW ASSESSOR

Town Forced to Provide High School—Other Items

Beginning next September, the town of Billerica will have to shoulder the expense of providing a high school for its residents as the interest on the sum of money which was left the town many years ago for that purpose has been used up and, according to the terms of the will, the principal cannot be touched. Therefore, it will be necessary for the selectmen to appropriate about $5000 more for schools this year than ever before.

For a number of years the Howe school has been used for a high school by the town, and all running expenses have been paid by the Howe School association. Some time ago the Billerica selectmen were notified that the financial condition of the association would not permit it to keep the school open, and so a special meeting of the selectmen and school committee was held last Saturday evening for the purpose of taking some action on the matter. After considerable discussion it was voted to rent the building from the Howe School association and pay the teachers' salaries out of the school appropriation for the year. It is believed that the rent will be about $500 a year.

John A. Richardson was elected a member of the cemetery commission to take the place of the late Mr. Jacquith. The other members are J. Nelson Parker and Herbert A. King. Another meeting of the board of selectmen is to be held this evening in the town hall.

ON HOME RULE

Premier Asquith Has a Conference With Redmond and Birrell

LONDON, Feb. 2.—John E. Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader, and Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, were escorted by Premier Asquith at his official residence in Downing street today as they were understood the government had determined on another effort to conciliate Ulster before heated debates in parliament can lead to the admittedly dangerous situation in the northern province of Ireland.

It is generally thought that Mr. Redmond holds the key to the position, and it is pointed out in some quarters that if he is willing to go to the same lengths as Premier Asquith and members of his cabinet are ready to advance in order to placate the north of Ireland, threats of Civil war in that country can be averted.

Unionists say they would not be surprised to see Premier Asquith riding for a fall but the wish is father to the thought. They say that if Mr. Redmond should agree to the exclusion of Ulster even for a specified term of years an agreement might be reached but Redmond will make no such agreement.

TWO STORMS ARE DUE

EXPECTED TO SWEEP ACROSS THE COUNTRY THIS WEEK, ACCORDING TO WEATHER BUREAU

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Two winter storms are expected to cross the country from the west during this coming week, which the weather bureau experts say will open with fair weather over most of the states.

"The first part of the week," said the bureau's bulletin last night, "will be fair over the eastern, central and southern portions of the country, with moderate temperatures, as a rule, although there will be light frosts Monday morning in northern Florida."

"A disturbance now over Montana will extend eastward and southward, preceded and accompanied by increasing cloudiness and rising temperatures, but probably by little or no precipitation in the Rocky mountain region and the plains states."

"There will, however, be rain or snow by Tuesday in the great central valleys and the upper lake region, and during Tuesday night and Wednesday, the rains and snows will extend through the lower lake region to the middle Atlantic states and New England."

MAN 95 AND BRIDE 74

WEYMOUTH COUPLE START ON HONEYMOON AT AN ADVANCED AGE

NORTHAMPTON, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Alice Clark, aged 74, will become the bride of Thomas S. MacNab, 75, of South Weymouth on Wednesday.

Mrs. Clark has been twice a widow, and the marriage will also be Mr. MacNab's third. Mr. MacNab is enthusiastic over his bride-to-be, and declares he thinks that his honeymoon will be the happiest he ever had.

"She is only a young woman, to be sure," she declared Mr. MacNab. "She is a charming girl and a good housekeeper and full of life. I detest sleepy people, and Mrs. Clark is quite a sprightly young woman."

Mr. MacNab's father died in Scotland at the age of 118, and his mother lived to be 108. He has a "boy," as he calls him, who is 16, and who lives in the west.

A few weeks ago Mr. MacNab told a reporter of his search for a wife, for he felt lonesome at his old home in Weymouth. He declared at the time that he wished one "about 70, who could cook, keep house and who was lively."

Mr. MacNab says he doesn't see why some people can't live as long as Mr. MacNab.

CRUCIAL BATTLE TO BE FOUGHT AT TORREON

16,000 Rebel Troops Mobilize to Attack Federals at Torreon — Most Important Conflict of Mexican Revolution

JIMINEZ, Mex., Feb. 2.—Uncertain as to when they would be ordered to begin the attack upon the federal army at Torreon, the scene of the most important impending conflict in Mexico, 10,000 rebels mobilized here and along the railroad south of here today and awaited the coming of General Francisco Villa.

With their forces drawing in from the south, west and east of Torreon and with the troops mobilized to the north, the rebel generals assert they will attack the city with a total strength of 16,000. The rebel army is divided into the commands of five brigadier generals, including Monclova, Herrera, Rosales, Hernandez and Toribio Ortega, with General Villa commanding the division and while their man body is still more than a hundred miles north of Torreon their advance guards extend to within a few miles of the city. About 40 field pieces and great quantities of ammunition have been shipped southward in readiness for the attack.

GEN. WILSON DEAD

Veteran of the Civil War Wrote More Than 20 Works

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Gen. James Grant Wilson, soldier, editor and author, who has been ill in St. Luke's hospital here for several weeks, died yesterday. From the first little or no hope was held out for his recovery, because of his advanced age, 81 years, but his great vitality kept him alive for weeks after the inevitable was apparent.

Gen. Wilson, son of William Wilson, a Scotch poet, was a veteran of the Civil war. His two brothers served with him in the war. Brevetted at his close a brigadier general of volunteers, he laid down the sword and took up the pen.

His literary labors produced more than a score of volumes, including a "Life of General U. S. Grant," "Lives of the Presidents of the United States," "Sketches of Illinois Officers," "The World's Largest Libraries," "Love in Letters" and "Thackeray in the United States." His most important editorial work was on Appleton's Cyclopedia of American Biography.

Gen. Wilson was born in Edinburgh, April 23, 1832. His youth was spent in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where his family established itself when he was a year old. At the age of 25 he founded in Chicago the first literary journal published in the northwest. This work he left in 1852 to become a major in the Fifteenth Illinois Cavalry. He took part in Grant's Vicksburg campaign and in 1863 became colonel of the Fourth Regiment of United States Colored Cavalry.

After the war he made his home in New York city. For a long time he was president of the American Authors' Guild, of the New York Genealogical and Biographical society and of the American Ethnological society. He was vice president of the Hudson-Fulton celebration commission. In 1894 he was knighted by the queen-regent of Spain for his services in having a statue of Columbus erected in Central park.

Gen. Wilson's first wife died in 1894, and in 1897 he married the widow of Admiral J. W. A. Nicholson.

GET CHICKEN DINNER

FALL RIVER OPERATIVES WHO DID NOT STRIKE ARE WELL CARED FOR

FALL RIVER, Feb. 2.—Girls who are employed as hookers and folders at the plant of the American Print works, where there is a strike in progress, are living like a collection of helmses. Those of the faithful who stick to their daily work, and go unheeding to the pleadings of the feminine pickets, are on chicken dinners within the factory each noon, and at night, when the day's work is done, they are taken to their homes in all parts of the city in automobiles. High powered motor cars also bring the girls to their work in the morning.

CALAMITY CONGRESSMAN

HARTFORD, Feb. 2.—Though a few months back former Congressman Ebenezer J. Hill, a Payne republican, was the loudest of calamity howlers for New England, his Terryville factory, the Eagle Lock company, will start again running 13 hours a day, and still another calamity on the present business situation is found in the announcement that last night the Yantic woolen mills of southeastern Connecticut, which went up with a big bang during the summer days of tariff uncertainty and suspense, will be out of the bankruptcy woods during the next weeks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Uncertain as to when they would be ordered to begin the attack upon the federal army at Torreon, the scene of the most important impending conflict in Mexico, 10,000 rebels mobilized here and along the railroad south of here today and awaited the coming of General Francisco Villa.

With their forces drawing in from the south, west and east of Torreon and with the troops mobilized to the north, the rebel generals assert they will attack the city with a total strength of 16,000. The rebel army is divided into the commands of five brigadier generals, including Monclova, Herrera, Rosales, Hernandez and Toribio Ortega, with General Villa commanding the division and while their man body is still more than a hundred miles north of Torreon their advance guards extend to within a few miles of the city. About 40 field pieces and great quantities of ammunition have been shipped southward in readiness for the attack.

FEDERALS IN LAST DITCH

Against the rebels the federal garrison under Gen. Velasco will put forth as formidable a defense as their means will permit. The federal strength is estimated by the rebels at from 6000 upwards. It is expected that the rebels will outnumber the federals at least two to one. General Velasco's soldiers, however, have the advantage of positions and are said to be supplied with superior artillery.

Torreón, with 25,000 population, an important railroad center and the industrial seat of the La Guna cotton districts besides having the largest soap factory in Mexico, has a natural defense to the west. It is flanked on the west by a series of hills and canyons. On these hills which have a sweeping command of the city, over a river to the north and over the Laguna district eastward, the federals have planted their cannon. One hill in particular, known as La Cruz, has been converted into a veritable fort, bristling with long range guns.

Cut Off Railroad Communication

It will be for the possession of these hills that the preliminary battle will be fought.

In case of defeat, the federals ordinarily would follow the railroad southward to Zacatecas or eastward to Saltillo. The rebels operating in these districts have been ordered to cut off railroad communication in both districts from Torreon before the attack begins. Because of those preliminaries it is likely that the attack on the city will be deferred for some days.

Gen. Villa, Herrera and Ortega have had previous experience in attacks on Torreon. The city has changed hands several times. In the Madero revolution attention was attracted to Torreon because of the massacre there of several hundred Chinese.

GENERAL VILLA, REBEL COMMANDER, OFF FOR CHIHUAHUA

JUAREZ, Mex., Feb. 2.—Gen. Francisco Villa, the rebel commander, will leave here tonight for Chihuahua to prepare for his campaign south. He probably will remain in Chihuahua for a week before he starts for Torreon to take personal command of his troops.

MORE MONEY

use to the fire department. This machine was bought by a committee composed of members of the old city government and has always been a misfit. The few times that it was sent out it came back minus bolts or something else and now in order to render it serviceable it will have to be dropped down and made over. The truck is altogether too high and estimates are being prepared on the cost of dropping it, making it over and supplying the tractor. The chances are there will be a strong argument against the re-vamping of this truck; an argument to the effect that it has never been of any service to the city and that the city can get along without it this year as well as last year or any preceding year.

The council should vote for two new motor trucks, one would be placed on Garham street and the other in one of the two stations in Centralville, either the Fourth street house or the West Sixth street house. Commissioner Carmichael talks as if he would not force the issue relative to the purchase of more motor fire apparatus. There are two propositions that he will put up to the council and let it go at that. The purchase of the machines constitutes one of the propositions and the retention or dismissal of ten firemen who were appointed by ex-Commissioner Barrett in December of last year, the other.

His proposition relative to the firemen is to submit two estimates, one including the wages of ten men for the year, which would represent about $10,000 and the other dispensing with their services. Mr. Barrett appointed 12 men in December, or late in the year, and two of these have already been let go on the ground that their appointments were not legal. Commissioner Carmichael does not say that the appointment of the other ten men was not legal, but he says the matter is in doubt and he allows that even though their appointments were all right it would not be necessary to continue them in service if their services were not required. The estimate that would include the ten men and continue them along would figure $14,514.43 and the estimate that does not provide for them would figure $14,012.42. This means permanent men.

The estimate for call men would show a decrease of $2300 providing the ten regular men were retained, because the extra number of permanent men would reduce the number of call men. Taking all in all it looks as if the council would not favor the retention of the ten permanent men appointed by Mr. Barrett in December, 1913.

The fire department appropriation for 1913 was $187,000 and $4735.45 of that appropriation remained at the end of the year. It was stated that $1000 of the money left over was transferred to the charity department and the rest went back to the city treasury.

In discussing estimates and appropriations today, Col. Carmichael said that it was necessary to ask for more money this year in order to be prepared for unforeseen expenses. "You know that under the new law which became operative this year," said the colonel, "we are obliged to get along with the appropriations granted us at the first of the year; the original appropriation. We cannot go back and ask to be helped out during the year and in view of that fact it is well to be on the safe side. I have asked for $126,990.57 and part of that amount is intended for emergencies for there is none of us so wise as to foretell accidents."

Street Department Estimate

The municipal council will meet tomorrow forenoon at 11 o'clock and the council may proceed to consider and discuss the estimates, but the chances are that the estimates will not be taken up for a day or two and when they are taken up there will be no other business before the meeting.

It must be absolutely necessary to a lot of pruning and it remains to be seen how well the department heads will stand the gaff. They will all be given opportunity to show how anxious they are to retrench and curtail.

FIND GIRL UNCONSCIOUS

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Ethel Cammermeyer, 15, was found unconscious in her home today, her face covered by an ether-soaked towel, her jaw broken, her features bruised and her skull possibly fractured. KING LEOPOLD

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 2.—A definite settlement of the claims of the three daughters of the late King Leopold in connection with the property left by him was reached today. A short time ago they unsuccessfully sued the government for the Congo property, valued at nearly $11,000,000. Afterward the state recognized that they were entitled to some compensation and made them an offer which they accepted.

Princess Louise signed an agreement this afternoon and her sisters, Princess Clémentine and Princess Stephanie will sign the agreement this week. It must then be submitted to the Belgian parliament for ratification, which the money will be distributed among the princesses and the creditors of Princess Louise.

A national subscription for a monument to the late King Leopold is to be opened shortly.

UNCLE SAM'S SERVANTS

New Bedford Times: In a government office, bureau, printing shop or mint the employees in a way his own boss. His pay, or at least a portion of it, comes from himself and the millions of other workmen of this country and there is no big dividend going to the manufacturer. Such a condition, it would seem, must meet the conditions for which the trade union was organized.

It is the workman who is largely responsible for the cry that is being raised for government owned and operated service. The contention for government ownership of these lines claims that the workman and public will both profit by the change.

If this is true, then why the need of unionizing the men who work for Uncle Sam and is paid by the people? It would seem as though the time and effort required for organization might be spent in other lines to better advantage.

VILLA OF MEXICO

Worcester Post: General Villa's disclaimers of any ambition to become president of Mexico and his declaration in the interview given out yesterday that he will loyally support Carranza and the constitutional cause, is timely indeed, just now. For the remarkable ability he has shown as a military man, the cause of such anxiety among the real friends of Mexico, that he repeat the role so frequent in his past from successful soldiers. Really, he is in that of the greater part of the rebel movement, and all the disorder, cruelty and banditism that it also includes, is the one that contains the only hope for the future of that distracted land.

A LITERARY TEST

Providence Tribune: That immigrants are keenly interested in school grants for their children, or at least conspicuously obedient to school attendance laws, is the declaration of Dr. P. R. Claxton, United States commissioner of education. "The least illiterate of our population," says the native-born children of foreign parents," says Dr. Claxton in a bulletin on education for immigrants just issued. "The illiteracy of the children of native born parents is three times as great as that among native born children of foreign parents."

REFORMATORIES

Lynn Telegram: The penal institutions of the state have come in for much criticism recently and perhaps it has been deserved. The latest to be attacked is the reformatory at Concord and the attack comes from one of the former inmates, who declared in court that he knew about crime—and he has a record. NEWS OF LEGISLATURE

NEARLY 100 BILLS AFFECTING THE CIVIL SERVICE INTRODUCED

BOSTON, Feb. 2—Nearly 100 bills affecting the civil service in one way or another have been introduced into the present legislature and referred to the committee on public service. No such number of civil service bills has been sent to any legislature in a decade. Hearings on them will cover several weeks.

Interest in the house and senate will come principally with proposed additions to the classified list, particularly in behalf of the county employees. "The net result of this unprecedented quantity of legislation affecting the civil service will be an extension of the classified list beyond all previous limits," said Secretary Arthur H. Brooks of Massachusetts civil service association yesterday.

The civil service commission is urging bills: "Giving preference to American citizens; to establish experimental yards or stations for testing appointments; in addition to written tests; establishing salary grades for clerks and stenographers employed by the state; to include county employees in the classified list; proposed, it was stated yesterday, because of protests against so-called 'county rings'."

The attitude of the Massachusetts Civil Service association toward the 1914 crop of bills to extend the civil service classified class, was yesterday defined by Secretary Brooks, as due no doubt to the fact that the persons in public employ are beginning to realize the many advantages that will gain if their positions are classified and protected from hostile political action.

"The legislature in the past," he said, "has often thrown out these bills because by passing them they inevitably gave more fixed and permanent tenure to the unclassified office-holding class. In other words they will cover them in without examination."

"The history of this subject shows that practically all the extensions of the law to new positions have been made with this result, and yet the objection urged has not in the long run been objectionable, for new appointments are made subject to the law."

Foreign civil service bills of a special character in that which protect the veterans of the Spanish war receive certain credits in civil service examinations, sponsored by Representative Hurley of Marlboro and suggested by ex-Representative John J. Murphy of South Boston. The fight is to be made on the provision by which 5 per cent shall be added to the marks of Spanish war veterans who may be examined.

"This year," said Secretary Brooks, "as in other years, the Massachusetts Civil Service association has unalterably opposed preferential legislation in the matter of civil service, and it proposes to make a little stiffer fight than ever against the Spanish war veterans' act."

"The Spanish war was hardly over before its veterans sought preference."

THE THOMPSON HARDWARE CO.

In the civil service. Their numerous bills have been defeated year after year with great difficulty, sometimes by only one vote and sometimes by veto. No governor thus far has failed to affix his veto to all such bills and to stand firmly for the maintenance of the merit system.

The most important of the many bills affecting Lowell in the legislature this session is the bill No. 1291 which would permit the city to negotiate a loan to pay off $100,000 of its temporary debt. There has not as yet been an assignment for a hearing, but the bill goes into effect the year will be enabled to decide whether this city shall or shall not maintain such a market and if the vote of the people is registered in the affirmative, the city will be compelled to take land or buildings or to acquire them or to erect structures on land owned or acquired by the city or to rent any such structure or land to be used as a public market.

Another bill to be introduced by Mr. Murphy would grant old age pensions to all employees of the city over 50 years of age, provided they have been employed for 20 years in the service of the city. The bill would also retire any employee, no matter what his age, if after 10 years' service to the city, he is incapacitated.

The proposed cleaning up of the Concord river will be aided in the legislature in the near future, for John H. Higgins intends to introduce a bill to appropriate money for the purpose. The bill is now before the committee on harbors and public lands. Mr. Higgins says that the health of the many campers and clubs along the river banks demands the cleansing of the river as well as the sanitary interests of Lowell.

though none of the parish reports was final, the fund nears the $3000 mark. Some of the priests in charge of the parish collections said that were it not for the heavy rain of Saturday, the results would have been far better for most of the parishes depended in great measure on their Saturday collection in making up their allotment. To offset the efforts of the collectors will be more energetic than ever today as it is the aim of Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan to send in the total collected tomorrow.

This does not necessarily mean that all collections will stop this evening for any parishes that will not have made up their allotment will continue to collect until the end of the campaign in the archdiocese. Money collected after today, however, will be sent in as a supplementary report.

Parish Totals

The totals for the various parishes that have reported to date are as follows: St. Margaret's $200; Immaculate Conception, $180.25; Sacred Heart, $194.65; St. Peter's, $274.10; St. Patrick's, $670; St. Michael's, $548.35; St. Columba's, $150; St. Louis, $127.55; Notre Dame de Lourdes, $63. The parishes not yet reported from are: St. Jean Baptiste, Holy Trinity (Polish) and St. Joseph's (Lithuanian).

The amount of the local collection to date is $2816.90. At last night's meeting it was reported that St. Margaret's was the first church to reach its allotment, and St. Patrick's and St. Michael's are the margin. By this evening it is expected that most of the parishes if not all will have turned in the expected amounts.

Those who have not been reached by the collectors are requested to get in touch with the priest in charge of the work in each parish, as it is probable that many who would gladly contribute may be overlooked in the general collection. The priests looking after the collection in the respective parishes are: St. Patrick's, Rev. Joseph A. Curran; St. Peter's, Rev. D. J. Heffernan; Immaculate Conception, Rev. Owen McQuaid; O. M. I.; St. Michael's, Rev. Dennis F. Murphy; Sacred Heart, Rev. James T. McHernon; O. M. I.; St. Margaret's, Rev. Henry Brown; St. Columba's, Rev. John Degan; St. Louis, Rev. Lucien Bedard; St. Jean Baptiste, Rev. Hervé Racette; O. M. I.; Notre Dame de Lourdes, Rev. Fr. Magan.

The Hospital

Architecturally, the new St. Elizabeth's hospital will be one of the finest in New England. The monastic style has been followed in design and construction. The exterior walls of the building are of brick, over which has been plastered white cement. The roof is red tiled. The central building is a match to Cambridge street and has a frontage of 230 feet. There is a wing extending to the south at either end of the main building, and in this way a court is formed. It is the plan of the authorities, in the future extension and development of the hospital, to erect a tower at the end of each of these wings, a striking and picturesque appearance to the structure, as well as providing suites to be extensively fitted up for operation purposes. From the towers there will extend to the south two more wings containing wards, and the extended wings will be completed by a building parallel to the main building, and consisting of a beautiful chapel in the center with one end to be used as a home for the nurses and the other for the Sisters.

CHANGE IN LOAN SHARK LAW

In a bill sent to the legislature, E. Gerry Brown, supervisor of loan agencies, recommends three important changes in the present loan shark law. He urges raising the limit of loans under supervision from $300 to $600, a new tender provision with 15 per cent, for six months and placing loans over $300 under the wage assignment law.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

It is obvious that in Braintree, Tewksbury and practically all other surrounding towns one of the crying needs for better fire protection. In the past these places attended to their local needs as best they could with an inadequate service, depending on Lowell to send apparatus and men in case of extraordinary need. This time came when Lowell did not dare to leave any of its territory unprotected and the result was a general agitation of the question of fire protection such as we now see in the contiguous towns. The problem is not merely local, and it was one of the matters discussed at the Trenton convention that gave birth to the new "Trenton idea" community spirit.

A short time ago the need for better fire protection was felt in Newbury, N. H., owing to some particularly disastrous fires in the vicinity. A suggestion of one of the leading papers of Newbury was that the authorities of the contiguous communities should get together and devise some means by which these smaller places would give a proportionately small appropriation yearly to the larger city for adequate fire protection. Either apparatus specially set aside could thus be purchased or some Newbury apparatus could be availed of and manned by members of the Newbury fire department. With the development of the automobile fire apparatus, this scheme could be easily made practicable, but there would be the danger of fire breaking out in two widely separated sections with consequent misunderstanding.

The main objection to any such scheme as this among the smaller communities is of a sentimental nature, for these places do not like to be dependent, and they feel that they are fully able to take care of their own problems. This may be very true, but a disastrous fire destroys such sentimentality easily and shows the need for stronger business relations between the large city and the smaller places surrounding it in the matter of fire protection than mere sentimentality.

Some wise citizens with an abnormally developed sense of civic consciousness have solved the contagious hospital question to their entire satisfaction and to the amusement of those of the public who have a good sense of business and property values. These discoverers of the obvious are urging on the municipal council the acceptance by the city of the recent "gift" in Pawtucketville which would give the city a contagious hospital site "for nothing." As unfortunately the state board, backed by a mandate of the legislature, requires something more than a site it may be well to think twice before we decide that the city ought to accept the Ward land and the other "playground or park" land which is thrown in to make the "gift" especially attractive.

In view of the vigorous protest of Frederick Fanning Ayer, any location of such hospital in the neighborhood of the Lowell General hospital would be injurious, if not disastrous to the latter. As the greatest benefactor of our city, Mr. Ayer is entitled to consideration in the matter. In this case it happens that his request can be granted without in any way affecting the city's best interests. The Ward land is unacceptable for many reasons in a site for a contagious hospital because of its being in a wilderness, so to speak, and without sewerage, water and buildings.

Assuming that there was no obstacle to the acceptance of the Ward land—that there was no Pillsbury site in the controversy—it would even then be ill advised to accept the offer, not only on account of Mr. Ayer's objection, but because of the great expense necessary to grade the land, to construct roads, sidewalks and sewers, to lay water mains, put in a lighting system, and finally to erect suitable buildings. Viewed in comparison with the Pillsbury site an expenditure of $50,000 and a delay of ten years would be required to bring the Ward land into the same class with the Pillsbury estate in point of meeting the real requirements of a site for a contagious hospital. In this light, therefore, the Ward land although offered for nothing would eventually prove far more expensive than the Pillsbury site, the Hope site, or any of the others mentioned as acceptable.

On the other hand, in the Pillsbury site the city has a beautifully developed location with all the advantages of isolation, ample territory, accessibility, good water supply, and scenic beauty. Best of all, there is on this location a large and well appointed residence suitable for the purpose of a home for consumptives, with slight alteration. Consumptive patients require pleasant surroundings and a home atmosphere, both of which are here and all at the very moderate price of $21,000, slightly over the assessed value. If by sheer obstinacy the municipal council adds the cost of a special election to the expense of providing a contagious hospital it will only be increasing the evil it pretends to mitigate.

A DISTINGUISHED CRITIC

One of the few really distinguished men that have come out in open condemnation of President Wilson's trust-busting plans is Mr. Wickersham, attorney-general under Mr. Taft. Undoubtedly his criticism is sincere and he has demonstrated that the Sherman act had in him a tireless champion while in power. Nevertheless his views lose weight when we remember that after long and bitter litigation, the so-called trust dissolutions under him were merely perfunctory and did nothing beyond getting a nominal compliance with the federal law.

He criticizes particularly the proposed clause to abolish the rule of reason and make the local definition of what constitutes monopoly more distinct. Undoubtedly his chief objection to this particular clause is that it is supported by the democratic party, and he would discover many virtues in it if urged by Mr. Taft and the republicans generally. This proposal of President Wilson has been advocated by the progressive party, and if Mr. Wickersham looks up the last party platform of the republicans he will find the following:

"The party favors the enactment of legislation supplementary to the existing anti-trust act, which will define as criminal offenses those specific acts which uniformly mark attempts to restrain and monopolize, to the end that all who obey the law may have a guide for their action and that those who aim to violate the law may be more surely be punished."

This is even more specific than the recommendation of President Wilson on the same subject.

By the way: What has become of Harry Shaw, Gen. Huerta, Mrs. Pankhurst, and the hundreds of terrible fellows that were using the poison needle a month ago?

The city can scarcely afford to offend on generous and public spirited a donor as Frederick Fanning Ayer. We have too few like him.

How an epidemic would change the situation!

Athletes and Athletics

Eddie Murphy is rapidly recovering from his auto injuries and yesterday left Boston on a tour of conquest through the middle west. Murphy hurt his hand on the head of tough little Steve Kennedy in their bout Christmas day. The "Pride of South Boston" will make St. Louis and Chicago his headquarters while away.

The 17-year-old son of the late Mike Murphy, veteran trainer and coach, has all the earmarks of making a really wonderful athlete. He has just entered a Philadelphia high school where he will prepare for Penn. Mike gave his son every advantage which his long experience could afford and it is said that the boy is adapted to most any track or field event.

The Glants and the White Sox played a 3 to 3 tie in Cairo, Egypt, yesterday afternoon. No Sunday baseball isn't barred on the Nile. In spite of the fact that very few of the natives had ever heard of such a game the receipts proved satisfactory.

The Khedive of Egypt entertained the members of both teams during their stay in Cairo.

Battling Levinsky and Jim Flynn will not battle tomorrow night as Flynn has been taken suddenly sick. The sickness is, perhaps, better to endure than a pounding such as the New England slugger passed out to the freeman when last they met. Maybe Flynn was just sick of the match.

The legal status of the boxing game will be fought out at the state house before the legislative committee on legal affairs next Thursday. The friends of the sport will endeavor to have a law passed whereby boxing is to be a legal sport under the control of an athletic commission resembling that in vogue in New York. It is safe to say that the game was won by the friends of the game who did not forget the date for the hearing.

Harvard and Yale will chase the puck at the Boston Arena next Friday night in the first of a series of games by the intercollegiate schedule. It will be the first time that the two hockey teams have clashed and the usual rugged contest which always resulted when the Crimson and Blue get together is looked for. Harvard is the strong favorite.

Regardless of the courts, the boxing commission of New York or the sporting public in general Bob Fitzsimmons has once more entered the ring. He is now in the ring with Dan Sweeney in Williamsport, Pa., demonstrated the fact that Robert is not as near passe, despite his years, as some people would have us believe.

There will be two hot basketball contests tonight at the opening of the Boys club in their new quarters on Dutton street. The Lowell Independents will line up against the Quincy Five composed of such men as Herbie Cole, Paul Clark and Jimmy Grant. The Police and Crescents will crash in the second game. Music will be furnished by the brass band of the Trust school and the entire entertainment is free. We all wish the Boys' club the greatest of success in their new home.

Tomorrow night the Y. M. C. I. quintet will line up against the National Biscuit company's squad of basket shooters at the institute. Those who saw the former contest between these two teams will be sure to be there tomorrow night for the game was a thriller from start to finish.

CURRENCY LAW PRAISED STRUCK BY AN AUTO

LONDON AUTHORITY SAYS IT IS GREAT BOON FOR THIS COUNTRY

In the following despatch Mr. Moreton Frewen, a recognized authority on currency and financial matters generally, speaks in the highest terms of praise of the new currency law:

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Moreton Frewen, a writer on economic problems, tariff and the exchanges, said in an interview yesterday:

"At the close of 1913 the city opinion here anticipated a bank rate on discounts of 4 per cent. It has fallen in a fortnight from 5 to 3 per cent. Why? Why have contents jumped 5 points? The answer is the new American currency act. Here is Uncle Sam with the power of a hundred Morgans entering the bill discounting business and putting down the rate of the world's business. Therefore, every banker knows that stringency and contraction have disappeared and that a new day has dawned. This act is a bigger thing than all odds for the world's trade than the Panama canal."

In reply to the question, "Is the bill safe and sound?" Mr. Frewen said: "It is safe if only the American people do not become frightened. If the shipment of large sums of gold during the year creates alarm, then Americans might forfeit their share in the feast of gold which is at hand. Make up your mind to lose perhaps $100,000 or $400,000,000 of gold in the next two years and that the export of this precious metal will greatly strengthen your export trade."

"If you accept the bill in that spirit great good will result. New issues of paper and great expansion of bank credits will advance your prices. Your steel, cotton, wool and leather industries will boom. It will be an antidote to the new tariff and will greatly confuse the two economic problems, but you may be quite sure that you will lose much gold."

"The protectionists in America (and I am a protectionist) will declare that this law is the result of the new tariff. On the contrary, it will be the result of your new vast currency issues."

Mr. Frewen continued: "Could there be anything more striking to show the internationalization of these money problems than that a local act should have restored confidence and vigor over the whole of Europe? What has done Christmas week will make money cheap here and business will expand for a long time. It will have an effect for at least four years."

"The passage of the American currency act was a greater discovery than half a dozen new African gold fields. From now on, the world may all want to walk away. Men will let us thank Washington for the Santa Claus visit to millions of anxious bedridden."

POLITICAL GRAFT

State Highway Contractors and "Big Poles" as Witnesses

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Up-state politicians and state highway contractors were among the witnesses whom District Attorney Whitman planned to call at the resumption this afternoon of his John Doe inquiry into political graft. Officials of banks in Erie and Albany counties also were under subpoena to appear. It was said, their testimony promised some interesting revelations in connection with the financial transactions of certain state officials and politicians whose activities Mr. Whitman has been investigating.

It had been planned to have Governor Sulzer as a witness today but the district attorney now purposes to put him before the grand jury tomorrow. He will be asked to throw further light on the alleged attempt of politicians to exact money from James E. Stewart, contractor.

PINDELL DECLINES POST

Writes President That No Controversy Should Surround Appointment of Any Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Henry M. Pindell, of Peoria, Ill., who was recently nominated and confirmed as ambassador to Russia, has declined the appointment, according to a letter to the president here today.

Mr. Pindell wrote President Wilson that although the senate had investigated accusations in connection with his appointment, he felt nevertheless that no controversy of any kind should surround the appointment of any ambassador, as it was likely to be misunderstood abroad.

The president in a letter of regret accepted Mr. Pindell's declination.

The correspondence, made public at the White House, follows:

"Dear Mr. President:

"I deeply appreciate the honor you have done me in nominating me ambassador to Russia and the very great compliment paid me by the senate in confirming the nomination by unanimous vote. I am deeply indebted to you and when you asked me to accept the post that I could do so at once and take up the work at a very early date, I am, therefore, the more embarrassed to find that circumstances have arisen which will render it impossible for me to undertake the mission."

"I have as you know, been put in a very false light by certain gross misrepresentations in the public press and while it is true that these have been cleared away and the nomination accepted in its true light, the senate investigation I feel it would be more delicate for me to decline the appointment than to accept it. No controversy of this kind should surround the appointment of an ambassador to a country which cannot be expected to be familiar with the real circumstances as they are known at home."

There should be nothing personal to talk about or explain there as far as the ambassador himself is concerned."

"I beg, therefore, that, trusting me to be guided by my own instinct, you will not feel it necessary to make any diplomatic task or duties."

A senate committee investigated the correspondence and recommended the confirmation of Mr. Pindell.

In St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

ASSISTED IMMIGRATION

MINER'S BEST, AT ASSOCIATE, FRI.

PRES. WILSON SAYS THERE SHOULD BE SOME RESTRICTION TO PREVENT IT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—President Wilson regards it as universally agreed that there should be some restrictions to prevent what is known as "assisted immigration."

He has not yet announced his position on the literacy test feature of pending immigration bills and indicated today that he would not do so until consulted by leaders of congress. The senate committee on immigration has announced that it will seek the president's advice in the matter.

The president has been giving audiences of late to many interested in that phase of immigration legislation and there is said to be some ground for the belief that he may suggest certain modifications in the literacy test as now proposed.

WASH. POST, Feb. 2.—Representative Underwood and Representative Bulkeley discussed rural credits with President Wilson this afternoon but said no definite program had been worked out. DECREASE RATES

New System of Interstate Express Rates Effective in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The new system of interstate express rates on a scale 15 per cent lower than those formerly prevailing became effective today under orders issued by the interstate commerce commission.

On the same basis of decrease in rates, the states of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, New Jersey, Illinois and Louisiana will put into force a new system of intra-state express business.

The new interstate rates are based upon a block system, the country being divided into 326 blocks, formed by the intersections of the meridians of longitude and parallels of latitude. The first and second class charges are based upon rates per 100 pounds. Third class rates are one cent for each two ounces, not to exceed first class rates.

Another important feature of the new express rate system now in force is that every express office in the United States will be able to determine and quote a rate to every other express office in the United States. A new uniform express receipt also becomes effective today. Hereafter each company has used a separate form of receipt.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear "winders" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Opton; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Opton tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyes, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may no longer need glasses. Thousands who are blind would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.—Advertisement.

rates, the states of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, New Jersey, Illinois and Louisiana will put into force a new system of intra-state express business.

The new interstate rates are based upon a block system, the country being divided into 326 blocks, formed by the intersections of the meridians of longitude and parallels of latitude. The first and second class charges are based upon rates per 100 pounds. Third class rates are one cent for each two ounces, not to exceed first class rates.

Another important feature of the new express rate system now in force is that every express office in the United States will be able to determine and quote a rate to every other express office in the United States. A new uniform express receipt also becomes effective today. Hereafter each company has used a separate form of receipt.

progress last night. Cries of "Fight, fight," coming from the top gallery, where an altercation had broken out, were mistaken by those in the lower balconies and the orchestra for cries of "Fire," and a rush for the doors of 700 or more persons in the audience started.

Etta Golden, the singer who occupied the stage at the time, directed the musicians to strike up a patriotic air, and her continued presence on the stage singing to their accompaniment, together with shouted explanation by the manager that there was no danger, reassured the crowd and the rush to the street was turned into a fairly orderly exodus.

Several persons were injured in the first crush, but none seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

THE SUN IS ON SALE IN THE NORTH STATION BOSTON

Many were entered in court here Saturday by Charles Mcgonigal and C. H. Stacey, who had been indicted on charges of libel and conspiracy to libel the Knights of Columbus in printing and distributing what purported to be an oath taken by members of that organization and circulated widely throughout the country by a paper called "The Menace."

James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the order, told the court that the Knights of Columbus felt that they had been vilified by the pleas entered, and said the order would be satisfied if the court would discharge the defendants under a suspension of sentence. As the order only sought vindication against the grandiose libel, the court granted the request.

HUNDREDS OF WOMEN

Nowadays are entering the professions or business world and go to work day after day in bad health, afflicted with some female ailment, dragging one foot wearily after the other, working with an eye on the clock, and wishing for closing time to come.

Women in this condition should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. It has brought health and happiness to more women in America than any other remedy. Give it a trial.
